Marion Welcomed Southwestern Virginia, Inc.

Tremendous Crowd --- Town Gaily Decorated --- Splendid Music---Great Enthusiasm---A Fine Banquet.

Fine Addresses by Distinguished Citizens From all Sections of Southwest.

It was a great day for Southwest Virginia, it was a big day for Smyth County, and it was a howling success for the Town of Marion—the meeting of the Southwest Virginia, Inc., on Saturday, April 11th. Marion had set itself out to entertain the Southwest Virginia, Inc., on that day and its the consensus of opinion that it was a right royal entertainment. We are glad that the day was such a great success for we are proud of Marion, we know that it is a progressive and wide-awake Town, and when it sets out to do anything it is well done. All of our visitors from Roanoke, Bristol and all the counties of the Southwest section of Virginia were pleased with their reception and entertainment, and we were glad they came and they were glad to be here.

We give the following account of the meeting which is taken from the Roanoke Times, for it is not only a good account but it shows the splendid feeling which our guests entertained for us:

It is estimated that fully 4,000 visitors were in Marion for the meeting, at which considerable enthusiasm and unbounded optimism over the possibilities of the movement were expressed by the various speakers. The meeting was held in the Smyth County court house and was presided over by Chas. C. Lincoln, Jr.

Directors Meet.

Preceding the meeting in the court house, the officers and directors of the Southwest Virginia, Inc., were entertained at a luncheon at the Marion Hotel. A meeting of the directors was held immediately following the close of the regional meeting.

Music by the Marion Kiwanis Band enlivened proceedings as the crowd was gathering. Dr. C. Brown Cox, of Marion Female College, called the meeting to order and introduced the chairman, Chas. C. Lincoln, Jr., following which the Rev. W. L. Snead, rector of the Episcopal Church, delivered the invocation.

Chairman Lincoln delivered a spirited address, pointing out the possibilities of such a movement as the Southwest Virginia, Inc., in the way of uniting and enlisting the cooperation of the nineteen counties and four cities which it was proposed to link up in the work of boosting the scenic, climate and industrial advantages of Southwest Virginia to the rest of the country. He cited what had been accomplished in California and Florida, and more recently, in the Shenandoah Valley along this line and urged Smyth county to line up solidly in the work.

Mr. Lincoln was followed by Dr. J. P. McConnell, president of the Radford State Teachers College and first president of the Southwest Virginia, Inc. Dr. McConnell, who had just returned from attending the sessions of the Virginia Good Roads Association in Richmond, spoke enthusiastically of the prospects for the organization and bespoke a proper pride and public spirit in what Southwest Virginia has to offer the world.

Judge Cassel Speaks.

Judge Cassel, of East Radford, captivated the crowd with one of his witty addresses, interspersing sound advice with humorous quips and anecdotes that were received with appreciative laughter by the audience.

Judge Cassel called on the individual members of Southwest Virginia, Inc., to get behind the officers and cooperate with them to the fullest extent possible.

At this point the chairman expressed the gratification felt by the officers of the organization at the presence of H. Powell Chapman, editor, and W. E. Thomas, business manager, respectively of The Roanoke Times, and called on Mr. Chapman, who expressed the cordial good will and lively interest of the people of Roanoke in the new movement and bespoke the willingness of the Roanoke press to promote and advance the movement in any possible way. He presented the names of D. D. Hull, Jr., and C. E. Machael as directors to represent Roanoke and they were unanimously chosen.

Mrs. B. E. Copenhaver, of Marion, responded to a request for a few words and heartily endorsed the project, assuring the directors of the keen interest felt by the women and their desire to aid in any way possible.

Smyth County Organizes.

J. P. Broom and Marvin J. Anderson, of Salem, were appointed to serve as directors for Roanoke county. L. C. Hassinger of Konnarock and Dr. Frank Smith of Abingdon were appointed as directors for Washington county.

The local organization for Smyth county was then perfected, the following officers being elected; president, H. P. Copenhaver; vice-president, Jas. D. Tate; secretary, E. K. Coyner. The appointment of committees was then left to the officers elected.

A plan of membership was established with the class A membership including corporations, hotels, garages, etc., $10 per year. Class B, merchants, $5; class C, individual members, $2. All ladies were given a special rate.

Fourteen girls divided into two groups with Jas. R. Shankling captain of one group and H. B. Staley captain of the other group sold memberships to practically all present.

Headquarters for the first year will be in Wytheville. The weather was ideal for the meeting and the booster spirit was very much in evidence, both on the part of speakers and all present.

Kiwanis Club Entertains. The Marion Kiwanis Club entertained about 100 officers and directors and guests of Southwest Virginia, Inc., at a 6 o'clock luncheon on Saturday, April 11th.

Enthusiasm prevailed continuously during the entire meeting. President W. W. Hawkins opened the meeting with the regular Kiwanis ceremony, after which the young ladies of Marion College served a delightful banquet.

Dr. C. Brown Cox had charge of the program and music and songs abounded during the meal, after the completion of which Dr. Cox called upon W. C. Saunders, general passenger agent of the Norfolk and Western Railway, who made comparisons of Southwest Virginia with other sections of the country.

Dr. Cox then called up Dr. John W. Draper, one of Pulaski's noted speakers, who spoke on the fine qualities of this section and stressed the importance of the good roads in this section, also the value of natural resources and how these two quantities had made neighbors of all the inhabitants of this section.

C. S. Carter, president of the Dominion National Bank of Bristol made known the fact that the invitations extended by the Bristol Chamber of Commerce had been accepted and the next regional meeting would be held there. Judge George Cassel then added spice and humor by telling some of his famous stories.

L. C. Hassinger, of Konnarock, declared his most hearty approval of and willingness to support the cause which has been firmly launched at the meeting held today.

Charles Bondurant, of Lee County expressed his delight in having the privilege of aiding this work. Mrs. Howard Gilmer, of Pulaski, Mrs. B. E. Copenhaver and Mrs. B. Frank Buchanan, of Marion, expressed their hearty approval and the willingness of all the ladies to cooperate and the enjoyment derived from this meeting.

Colonel W. C. Pendleton, of Marion, then made a most interesting speech upon some of the landmarks in this section. This closed the speaking part of the program and several new memberships were added to the already extremely large list.

Everyone left feeling that this was one of the finest and best meetings ever held in the interest of Southwest Virginia. At the close of the meeting all the guests gave a rising vote of thanks for the kindness extended to the visitors by the people of Marion, the Kiwanis Club and for the splendid music furnished by the Kiwanis band and the dainty supper served by the young ladies of Marion College.

The guests present at the luncheon: W. C. Saunders, general passenger agent of the Norfolk and Western Railway; Geo. Cassel, of Radford; Hon. J. H. Hassinger of Abingdon; Mr. and Mrs. John Draper of Pulaski; Luther Hassinger of Konnarock; W. F. Baldwin of Radford; J. M. Keeger of Abingdon; H. L. Bonham of Chilhowie; H. H. Bruce and B. E. FINAL TRIBUTE WILL BE PAID TO JUDGE KELLY AT SERVICES

Bristol to Pause From Usual Activity During Funeral Hour

DR. FRENCH TO HAVE CHARGE OF FUNERAL

Body Will Be Interred in East Hill Cemetery—Residence Front Lined With Flowers

With all the honor that becomes a leader of thought and action in his city, section and state, Judge Joseph L. Kelly, a member of the Virginia Supreme Court of Appeals will be laid to rest this morning in a grave in East Hill cemetery overlooking his beloved Southwest Virginia hills. All Bristol will pause from its world activity during the hour of the funeral.

The funeral service will be held at 10:30 o'clock this morning at the State Street Methodist church, for many, many years Judge Kelly's place of worship. The obsequies will be in charge of Dr. John Stewart French, pastor of the church, and one of Judge Kelly's most intimate friends. Following the ceremony at the church the body will be buried by the side of one of his children who died several years ago.

Mass of Flowers
Loving friends yesterday converted the front of the Kelly home into a veritable bower of flowers. They came from everywhere—Virginia, Tennessee and other states in many designs. The entire front of the house was lined with them as trucks from local florists carried load after load all during the day. It is probable that such a display of flowers was never before seen in Bristol.

All local banks, practically all business houses, stores and wholesale establishments and city offices will be closed during the hour of the funeral this morning. City Manager John D. Keeler announced yesterday that all officers in the Virginia courthouse will be closed all day. The Kiwanis club meeting today has been postponed and the American Legion endowment fund drive in Bristol will not begin until tomorrow. It was postponed from Tuesday. Highland Avenue will be roped off before the hour of the funeral today and it is probable that sections of State street also will be roped off to prevent noise from passing traffic. The offices of the local Chamber of Commerce will be closed until one o'clock this afternoon, it was announced by A. I. Hays last night.

Coming From Richmond
A number of Judge Kelly's friends from Richmond are expected here today to attend the funeral. Governor Trinkle is unable to come due to important engagements made beforehand and yesterday he sent a beautifully worded message of sympathy. A large wreath was sent by other state officials. Another wreath came from students and of the faculty of Bristol, Va., high school.

It is expected that all of the members of the Supreme court of Appeals will be here for the funeral. Among others coming from Richmond will be Judge Bolling H. Handy, chairman of the State Industrial Commission. He will be accompanied by Mrs. Handy. The funeral will also be largely attended by people in this section of Virginia, particularly members of the bar.

RESOLUTIONS OF RESPECT
Whereas: God in his infinite wisdom has called from this world the father of our brother Ike Phipps, we the members of Sugar Grove Lodge No. 215 I. O. O. F. take this method of expressing our sympathy to brother Phipps and family.

1st. That we humbly submit to the masters will in taking from our midst such a noble man, and that as a manifestation of our deep feeling to God for giving us the acquaintance and splendid Christian example of this man whose life was a force for good to all who knew him, we will consecrate our lives to more consistent living and greater love and loyalty to Christ and humanity.

2nd. That we express our deepest sympathy to the bereaved family, and pray that God may comfort and sustain them.

3rd. That a copy of these resolutions be spread on page of our minutes in lodge, a copy sent to bereaved family, and published in our county papers.

DEATH OF A LITTLE BABY

Emily Irene, infant twin daughter of Mr. and Mrs. G. W. Copenhaver, was born June 3, 1924, and died April 4, 1925, aged ten months and one day.

Emily Irene was an exceptionally bright baby of a rare, sunny disposition, which drew to her not only homefolks but all who came in contact with her. Sweet and beautiful she is sadly missed. She leaves a little twin sister a partial solace to her stricken parents. "Suffer little children to come unto me for of such is the kingdom of Heaven."

Mrs. B. F. Charlton of Radford, spent Monday night with Mrs. A. L. Cox, enroute from Sugar Grove to Radford where she spent Easter with her father.

Mr. Alec Hutchins, the very efficient and courteous manager of the Collins Bros. Department Store, is again confined to his home with re-attack of the flu. His many friends hope that he will soon be able to be out again.

The Methodist Young People's Missionary Society met at the home of Miss Louise Johnston, on Monday evening, April 13th, at 7:30 o'clock, with an unusually large attendance. Splendid reports were given, and the date set for our Bible Study Class, which we are planning to take up after the meeting delicious refreshments were served.

THE MARION BAPTIST CHURCH

"Roses Without A Thorn" is the pastor's subject Sunday at 11:00 A. M. At 7:30 P. M., there will be beautiful baptism and the sermon on "The Steps To Heaven."

The Sunday School will meet at 9:30 A. M. Every class is interesting and profitable. At 6:30 P. M. Young Peoples Societies will meet. FINAL NUMBER COMING

The final number of the Monday Afternoon Music Club course will be presented in Marion Friday evening, April 17th, at 8:30. This concert will be given by the faculty of Sullins College Conservatory, and promises to be one of the most enjoyable ever given in Marion.

The artist are Madame Regina Vicarino, coloratura soprano, Mr. Max Merson, pianist, and Mrs. Harry Martin, reader. Don't miss this program. Tickets on sale at City Drug Store Thursday and Friday. Those holding season tickets may exchange them for reserve seats.

Mr. Harry Scott of Johnson City, Tenn., spent Easter with his mother.

DEATH OF A GOOD MAN

On March 24, 1925, the county was overshadowed with gloom caused by the death of one of its oldest and most respected citizens, J. W. R. Cummings.

Brother Cummings was born Oct. 29, 1862, in Gilford County, N. C., and departed this life at his home near Marion, March 24, 1925, at the age of 62 years, 6 months and 24 days.

He was united in marriage to Miss Nannie J. Bourne March 19, 1890 and to this union was born three sons, namely: Earnest, Silas and Nul Cummings.

He professed faith in Christ early in life and after making his home in Marion, united with Greenwood M. E. Church South of which he remained a consistent member until death.

Brother Cummings was an honest, conscientious man, a good citizen, an accommodating neighbor, a kind father, and a devoted husband. He was active in church work, having been a member of the Board of Stewards for several years, of which he was ever faithful in the discharge of his duty.

It was the writers privilege to visit him in his illness and he expressed his desire to recover if it was Gods Will but if not, he was only waiting for God to call him home to his reward.

DEATH OF AN OLD MARION MAN IN OKLAHOMA.

We are informed that Mr. N. S. Davis, a son of Mr. Martin Davis, died at his home in Oklahoma, on the 3rd of April. He was born in Rich Valley in 1848, and was well known in Smyth county, at many years ago removed to Oklahoma, where he has since lived, and is reported to have been quite a wealthy man.

CARD OF THANKS

The family of the late John H. A. Copenhaver, who recently died at his home at Seven Hill, Ford, desire to take this method of returning their heartfelt thanks to all their friends and neighbors for the many acts of kindness and expressions of sympathy that have been given them during the sickness and death of their father.

MARION WOMAN'S CLUB.

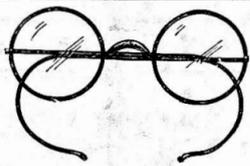

FIXING ONE'S CLOTHES.
There is no doubt that clothes are synonymous of the person. To be well dressed we must be suitably dressed. There is one fault with American dress, it is often unsuitable. No French woman nor English would go to her office work in the lacy beflowered gown she would wear to a garden party, but we have seen some times the American girl of the New York business section seated at the typewriter or telephone fully conscious that King Solomon in all his glory was not so arrayed like one of her. The woman in the home, whether at her morning duties, at her desk or wherever circumstance call her, should be dressed in crisp fresh gingham, or natty suit, with accessories of collar, cuffs, common sense hoes, (not comfort,) all done to that same nicety she gives to her afternoon and evening gowns.

Thinking perhaps you might be interested in what will be worn this season the materials are the french and striped flannels, Kashas, charmeen for dresses and coats, printed silks, silverette crepes, satin-backs, broadcloth stripes and many others for dresses. The straight line still prevails, though the spring frock sports a scarf, a flounce or drape here and there, and there is a charm about this mode of trimming. The dinner and evening gowns are developed in georgette crepes, with touches of flowers, lace and ombrae ribbons. In hats one is bewildered by the high colors and masses of flowers; hats are larger than in the past. The vagaries of Fashion are not to be accounted for and it would not surprise me were she to throw us into mourning ere the spring season ended. Shoes for dress—satin, in blonde or black. Hosiery—the delicate shades all are good. Gloves—the dainty flare cuff stands pre-eminent. It is a nice thing when the season opens to go over one's wardrobe. Many of your clothes may be done over and made to answer another season by a touch here and there, and the cleaning and pressing of your last year's wrap may save you a tidy sum. Green parasol. If necessary add one or two garments to your outfit and I am sure you will be well dressed at all times. This method you must always apply to your accessories, namely hat, gloves, shoes. We must be grateful to Paris, London, (and even Germany sent dresses last season.) True we temper these styles to our American ideas, but they lay the foundation. The well dressed woman is not the one who is bedecked with all she can wear, on the contrary, she will be simply dressed, becomingly and properly for the occasion, to know what to wear, when and where should be her motto. Prettiness has little to do with smartness. It is a question of selecting things suitable to one's face, figure, character and mode of life. Women should feel that it is more important to adjust the ordinary accessories to your costume, than to keep adding new things to one's wardrobe. One may have the latest fashioned clothes by the dozen and be ill dressed, and one may have clothes of no special fashion and be extremely well dressed.

Nothing can be more amusing than to watch the modes of fashion, there is a new one born every moment and one must be wise to pick those that are good. The woman who adopts every new fashion regardless of its propriety, its beauty, its value, becomes a poor dresser. There is nothing new under the sun. No fashion is really dead beyond recall. Hoop skirts, that were so near us a short time ago, may be nearer or may turn into bustles, who can tell! To run to extremes is never good form. When fringes were in vogue a young person was noticed at Grand Central Station about to take a train for school, and that young person was dressed for travel principally in jet fringes, style as the world relates. Style appears to be one of those attributes, which everybody recognizes and nobody finds it easy to describe. We might say that it is the quality which enables one to wear their clothes with elegance, we cannot dismiss it with this truth alone, there is more to say for style besides the ability to adjust attire smartly and gracefully, there is a personal touch, something individual imposed upon the latest mode, this may be cultivated to a large extent did we but give thought to this matter and it is worth while. When in New York last season looking over some wonderful creations I said, M. Poncaire "You have the dress on the wrong model" and "Madame, on which one of ze models should I put the one?" "On my Mrs. Smith at Home," I replied, showing there is a dress for every one; for one would not be so reminded of people by the clothes and hats one sees.

Three years ago I knew nothing of clothes. I had up to that time been criticized for my lack of interest. Today I am vitally so, in every detail, and I am grateful for the accident that opened my eyes to one of the most important factors of today "Fixing Ones Clothes" and I am sure, with all the magazines, patterns, suggestions, etc., offered you in many ways, you too will be interested in this vital question and make a study of just the right thing to wear at all times. It gives one that delightful feeling of being well dressed and adding that personal touch which makes one individual with one's own particular individuality. One must do this with ease of habit and get a pleasure that is always new. "The Philosophy of Clothes is Phil. ophy of all things, for clothes are a Perennial Symbol."

POLL TAX

Saturday May the 2nd is the last day you can pay your poll tax and qualify to vote in the fall election. Why delay this important matter and have the Delinquent Tax Collector to add cost and collect this tax three years from this date? This officer is riding the county now and collecting the 1919 and 1920 back taxes. Next year he will collect the 1921 and 1922 taxes and as 1921 was the first year that the women were assessed, all women who have not paid for those years will have to pay this poll tax with the added cost. Now is the time for the good women to pay up and get ready to vote against the party that has placed this poll tax qualification between the voter and the ballot box. Men and women should vote because they are 21 years old, free citizens and possess certain mental qualifications and not because they have paid $1.50 into the state treasury. This tax should be collected each year by the County Treasurer when he collects all property taxes. It should be used to support schools and build roads, but not placed between the voter and the ballot box. The present system has lost Virginia Millions of dollars and disfranchised thousands and tens of thousand of her citizens. This tax is undemocratic and not responsive to the free institution of this great country.

DEMOCRATIC ACTIVITY IN THE NINTH VIRGINIA DISTRICT

The Republican organization of the Ninth District of Virginia and the various Republican County organizations should take note of the fact that their friends, the political enemy, are bestirring themselves in every county in the district. Congressman Peery is visiting the different counties along with the secretary of the Democratic District Committee. Mr. Peery is addressing the various county meetings along organization lines and is encouraging them in the matter of getting the vote qualified by the payment of poll tax by May 2nd, the last day.

While no doubt the primary that is to be held in August is stimulating Democratic activity at this time, yet it should not be forgotten that next year a congressional election is to be held. A thorough, systematic effort should be made to induce every Republican voter in the Ninth District to qualify by May the 2nd. Members of the State Legislature as well as governor and other state officials are to be elected this fall. There is no reason why these Republican counties of Southwest Virginia should be represented by Democrats, and none why this great district should give the Democratic nominee for governor a majority in the November election.

Every Republican in the Ninth District should be patriotic enough to qualify for the next election. Some interesting politics and political fighting are just ahead. The Democratic state machine in Virginia is being attacked from within the party in every quarter of the state. A spectacular fight over the supreme judgeships is in prospect, and this as a result of the 199th blunder of Governor Trinkle. Harry Byrd's steam roller is well oiled and ready for action, but in its path is Walter Mapp around whom the anti-machine Democrats of the state are rallying.

Aside from the importance of the election this year the Republicans of the old Ninth should begin now preparations to send to Congress next year that gallant and able young Republican, Hon. C. Henry Harman. He got into the race at too late a date last year. But in the brief thirty days he demonstrated his campaigning and organizing ability. He is a clean-cut worthy young man. He is in sympathy with the policies and purposes of the present Administration Congressman Peery is not.

Republicans of the "fighting Ninth" keep these things in mind and see to it that your names remain on the voting lists.—Bristol Bulletin.

The 1924 poll tax must be paid on or before May 2nd or you will be disfranchised this fall when you want to vote.

News of Saltville

One of the most enjoyable events of the season was that given by the Daughters of The Eastern Star to the Masons, at the Assembly Hall on April 10th. An excellent four course dinner was served to one hundred and fifty people, from Marion, Abingdon, Chilhowie, Saltville and the surrounding towns. Mrs. Mantz, Matron of Chapter, introduced Mr. A. B. Davenport, toastmaster for the evening, who with his usual grace and ease kept the crowd in laughter. Several speakers among whom were: Revs. S. E. Beard, from Broadford, Va., Rev. N. R. Cartwright, Dr. Early, Glenn R. Montgomery, Professor C. E. Anderson from Saltville, Mr. Roby Thompson and Mr. Large from Abingdon, Dr. Greever from Chilhowie. Special mention will be given to the principal speaker of the evening, Dr. Hillman, President of Emory and Henry College. The Saltville orchestra furnished music throughout the evening in their usual pleasing selections, the orchestra composed of Miss Virgie Davidson at the piano, Dr. E. J. Conrad with cornet, E. J. Conrad Jr., with cornet, Mr. E. A. Hyde with the violin and Maynard Leonard at the drums. Mrs. Jno. R. Mantz, matron of the Eastern Star gave the concluding address, thanking the masons and their friends for their aid in making the banquet a success. After the banquet being served a few of the young people enjoyed a dance, music being furnished by the same orchestra.

Mr. Fulton McKee, Miss Alice McKee were home for the Easter holidays.

Mr. E. A. Mults and Mr. Jno. R. Mantz were in Bluefield on business last week.

Miss Louise Mohoney spent the Easter holidays with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Mahoney. Miss Mahoney is a student at Peabody Institute.

Mr. and Mrs. L. N. Watson spent Sunday in Johnson City, guests of Mrs. Watson's mother.

A Federal Land Bank Loan.

Plenty of Money.

Farming is a business and must be conducted as such. Financing is the first essential. The Federal Land Bank was created by an Act of Congress in 1916, to supply this need for the farmer. Everyone knows that the farmer needs a long term loan in his business, also a plan by which he can gradually reduce his indebtedness and not worry about the renewal of his notes and mortgage. His experience proves to him the advantage of a co-operative system.

1. A low rate of interest. Five and one-half per cent.
2. Systematic reduction of the mortgage.
3. Long term with no renewals.
4. Farm can be sold and mortgage transferred to the purchaser.

5. The farmers receive the earnings of the Bank. (Last year The Federal Land Bank of Baltimore paid about $150,000 in dividends back to the County Associations.) Are you receiving any earnings on your present indebtedness?

If you are interested in further particulars, would advise that you come to see me. 300 other farmers of this county have taken advantage of this system.

MARION, VIRGINIA.

SOUTHWEST VIRGINIA.

The next meeting of the General organization of Southwestern Virginia, Inc., will be held in Bristol on Wednesday, April 22. At the regional meeting held in Marion last Saturday an invitation extended by Bristol delegates to hold the next meeting here was accepted.

The meeting in Marion, which was largely attended was addressed by Mr. C. S. Carter banker of Bristol, and Mr. W. E. Saunders, General Passenger Agent of the Norfolk and Western Railway. These speakers dwelt upon the great advantages and attractions which Southwest Virginia offers to investors, to homeseekers, and to tourists. These advantages are found in vast natural resources and in unsurpassed climate, scenery, and historical interest.

Mr. Carter expressed the belief that the meeting was the only one of its kind held in Southwest Virginia in the last twenty years that promised so much for the future advertisement and development of the resources of his section. Mr. Saunders, who has traveled in all sections of the country, declared he saw no reason why, if the larger cities of other sections were told the simple truth regarding the attractions of Southwest Virginia, this section might not enjoy greater tourist travel.

A story is related of a gentleman from Oklahoma City who last year spent several months in Southwest Virginia and preached at a number of points. Returning to Oklahoma City, he made a speech before the Chamber of Commerce in which he told of the beauty, the interests and other sources of the Southwest. When he had finished, a prominent man of that city remarked that the minister who had told these wonderful stories about Southwest Virginia was either lying or the people of the Southwest were fools not to give widest publicity to the advantages and attractions of their section.

It is the first aim of Southwestern Virginia, Inc., to put before the country the simple truth regarding the Southwest. It is the object of the organization to give widest publicity to the advantages and attractions of this section, to the end that its development and growth and progress in every direction may be promoted.

This is a movement to which Bristol and other towns and the counties of the Southwest should give strong support. Bristol should prepare to entertain in a big way the meeting to be held here next week. A large attendance of the leaders of this section may be expected.—Herald Courier.

SOMEONE IS GOING TO WIN $150—SOMEONE $100—SOMEONE $50—FOR WRITING AN ESSAY— WHY NOT YOU?

The Essay Contest for the best essay on "The Need for and the Benefits that should be derived from a County Council in my County" for which Hon. R. Walton Moore has offered three valuable prizes, the first prize being $150 in cash, the second $100 in cash and the third $50 in cash, has been extended from May 1st to June 1st as the closing date. That will give one more month for those who desire to have more time, and it gives plenty of time for those who have not yet entered the contest, to do so.

Splendid interest has been manifested in this contest and representative citizens from the various sections of the State have been securing material and making preparations for writing this essay. Several essays have already come into the office of the Director of County Councils.

The Department of County Councils of the Co-operative Education Association would like to see someone in every county enter this contest. In addition to the prizes offered, special mention will be given for the best essay from each county or city, and some of the best essays will be published.

This is an unusual opportunity for persons in the State who are interested in developing a better county, to really look into the situation in their own county and see just how a County Council might prove of special benefit to it just as it is proving to other counties in the State. Some of the most competent leaders in the State have been secured as judges. This assures every one who writes a paper that it will be thoroughly considered by able men. Anyone who is interested should write to J. H. Montgomery, Director, 208 State Office Building, Richmond, Va., for material and full information.

TRINKLE PROCLAIMS AMERICAN LEGION ENDOWMENT WEEK

Whereas, the shadow of the tragedy of the world's greatest conflict stalks today through the homes and lives of thousands of innocent and hopeless victims, the widows and orphans of the slain, and

Whereas, the nations' obligation to those heroes who discharged their duty on the battlefields of France, and who did not return is a debt of honor the liquidation of which it should be a labor of love to perform, and

Whereas, the gratitude of our whole people should be extended as a shield over the unsheltered heads of those loved ones left behind in trust with us by those soldiers of the Republic who breast fire and dared death in battle that the Democracy of Man might live, and

Whereas, The President of the United States has endorsed the efforts of the American Legion in its program to provide education and homes for the thousands of dependent orphans of war veterans, and for the care and protection of wives and widows now dependent upon charity, and for the care and comfort of disabled veterans of the World War, now

Therefore, I, E. Lee Trinkle, Governor of Virginia, do hereby designate and proclaim the week of April 20th-25th inclusive as American Legion Endowment Week, and do urgently call upon the whole people of Virginia, in so far as within their means and abilities it lies, to contribute generously towards the State's quota of the $5,000,000 fund needed to carry to a successful conclusion the American Legions' national child welfare and rehabilitation endeavors.

(Signed E. LEE TRINKLE, Governor of Virginia.)

MARION BOY IN THE NATIONAL CAPITAL

It was delightfully pleasant last week to have as a visitor in our midst Mr. C. Lee Richardson, Jr., a young law student at the University of Virginia. His spring vacation was due and he decided to pay his first visit to the National Capital. He arrived Friday morning, March 20th, at 10 o'clock P. M., and on the train on which he came were other students from the University and a bevy of beautiful girls from Sweetbriar Seminary near Culpeper, Virginia, who were also on their spring vacation, and together they comprised a very lively party.

He went directly to the home of Mrs. Josephine Davis Houston, his cousin where he visited her family and other friends living with her. Saturday was devoted more to business than pleasure, although he got to see considerable of the residence section of Washington, as he went to Chevy Chase, Washington's finest suburb, to see about some valuable lots his family had purchased there several years ago. Saturday evening was taken up by a theatre party at the Palace Theatre, and Sunday morning he heard a splendid sermon by the new pastor at Foundry M. E. Church on 16th Street. The afternoon was spent in an inspection of the beautiful new eleven million dollar Mayflower Hotel just completed in February, a visit to some Emory and Henry College classmates living here at a fraternity house, after which the Washington Monument, Lincoln Memorial and other places of interest were visited, then after luncheon a visit to the Congressional Library at night. He seemed much pleased and delighted at the wonderful beauty he beheld, much to the delight of his guide.

Monday morning was spent in the grandest of all buildings, the Capitol of the United States. He seemed more than delighted with what he saw there and the President's private room with its beautiful cut glass chandelier, paintings and furniture especially pleased him. The National Museum and Smithsonian Institute were next where he spent quite awhile seeing all the wonderful things to be seen. The afternoon was taken up in the business section of Washington with one of his former classmates from Emory and Henry. At night after spending a few hours at the New Earle Theatre he was the honor guest at a dance given by Miss Louise Houston at the Wardman Park Hotel, which was a very enjoyable affair.

Tuesday morning he visited the White House, which was inspected as far as visitors are allowed to go. He had hoped to get a glimpse of Mr. Coolidge and give him a fraternal handshake, as they both claim the honor of being members of the Phi Gamma Delta Fraternity, however he was disappointed in this since the President was not receiving visitors that day.

He had luncheon, visited the Post Office Department and at 3:45 P. M. was on his way back to the hard grind of study at the University, much to the sorrow of those whom he was visiting. The impression he made was a most delightful one. His pleasing personality in being companionable, affable and jolly, and his true southern manner and drawl were very attractive, especially to the ladies, and made a hit with all with whom he came in contact.

The writer of this article is very sorry he missed by several days one of the most beautiful and wonderful sights of Washington in springtime, the Japanese cherry trees in full bloom, the festival season in Washington. People come from all over our country to see them at this season, and are delighted and pleased with the sight. Ten thousand trees were presented to the United States Government during the Taft administration by the Emperor of Japan as ornamental foliage for Potomac Park. Their bloom is a beautiful pink and white, but they bear no fruit.

In saying farewell to our visitor I want to say that he will be welcome again any time he may choose to come and that time we hope will be soon. Being from the great Southwestern part of old Virginia, and in a few years a rising young lawyer with all the mental and social qualifications, backed up by a fine family and enhanced by University study and travel, with a bright and promising career before him, and when he adds experience with a few more years to his life, will expect to hear great things from him in future years.

to a minimum bill of $3 per month. Later two more farmers within the same mile desire service. It then becomes a six-farmers-to-the-mile line and the difference in deposit originally made and that required by the new conditions is refunded to the original four customers.

Mixed Lines Allowed For

If a customer discontinues service, the deposit or minimum bill for the remaining customers will be determined on the same basis as for a new extension. Adjustments on deposits or minimum bills will be determined on December 31 of each year.

Consideration is given to street lights or industrial uses of electricity, such as mills, etc. In figuring the number of customers to the mile, each $100 annual revenue received from such uses is considered as equivalent to one customer unless such lights or mills require a special type of line. Thus, there may be but one farm to the mile using electricity and a mill may be using electricity bringing in $200 a year revenue. The six farmers will then be rated on the eight-customers-to-the-mile basis and thereby be allowed a lower minimum bill.

FARM LIGHTING AIDED

Ideas in G-E Farm Book on What Lights to Use and Where to Put Them

In an attractive publication recently issued by the General Electric Company, the G-E Farm Book, a complete plan for lighting the farm and the farm buildings by electricity is sketched out. Not only the farm house, but the barnyard and barn itself, dairy buildings, the stable for horses or cows, the silo and granary, the hay mow, the garage and tool shed, and the poultry house are included in the suggested method of electrical illumination.

A diagram of an electric lighting system for every floor of the farm house is shown. There is also a diagram suggesting how the control of the lights at the barn, poultry house and in the barnyard can be obtained from the farmer's dwelling house.

On Protection of Wires
 "In wiring farm buildings," says the G-E Farm Book, "conduit or armored cable should be employed. While there is no likelihood of fire with insulated electric wires, moisture or ammonia fumes may rot the insulation, rubbing against walls may wear it, or rats and mice may gnaw it, causing live wires to be exposed. To avoid breakage of lamps in shed, at the silo chute and similar places, wire guards can be used. In dairy cattle exercise barns, or other buildings where stock is allowed to run loose, switches should be placed at least six feet from the floor, so that the stock cannot strike against them. It is best to fasten over them a wooden box-like cover with an open bottom, as cattle will sometimes attempt to investigate an exposed switch with their tongues."

"It is advisable in barns and especially in dairy buildings to install porcelain or moisture-proof switches and wiring devices. They last longer and are generally far more satisfactory than metal devices in outside installations or where there is much moisture."

DEATH OF A CHILD

Rates for electric service on the farm that give promise of proving satisfactory to both farmer and power company have been established by the Adirondack Power and Light Corporation of Schenectady, N. Y. These rates, which are not any indication of what may or may not be possible in other sections of the country, seem nevertheless to be a real contribution toward the solution of this pressing question.

In the case of the Adirondack company, the density of population, the character of the country, the kind of farms served and the cost of materials and of line construction have been such that these rates could apply. Such considerations enter into every effort to take electric lines to farms.

The farmer's problem is to get electric service at a cost low enough to make it profitable for him to use it. The utility company's problem is to supply the service at a price that will afford a fair return on the capital invested.

No Disappointments So Far

The Adirondack plan is the culmination of two years' intensive study, and, according to officials of the company, no case has yet been brought to their attention which cannot be taken care of under the provisions of its formula. In fact, the company now stands ready to extend service anywhere within its franchise area. The reply, "We will extend service if so many signatures are secured," etc., so common with utility companies to inquiries for service, is now changed by the Adirondack Company to, "We will gladly extend service for you, and the terms will be so and so, in accordance with our tariff regulations."

The outstanding feature of the plan, as filed with the New York State Public Service Commission, is a table from which it is an easy matter to determine the terms of any rural extension. This gives the minimum monthly bill and deposit necessary, according to the number of customers per mile. The plan provides for two ways of sharing this expense, a flat minimum monthly bill or a lower minimum monthly bill plus a cash deposit by the customer.

Farms operated by tenants where the owner would hesitate to make a cash payment toward the line, and where the tenant would also be reluctant to make a cash deposit to secure electricity for a farm which he might vacate in a year or so, are expected to favor the minimum bill plan. In the case where the owner occupies the farm, the other plan of a deposit and a lower minimum bill will undoubtedly be favored.

How the Plan Works Out

In explaining this table, John L. Haley, commercial manager of the Adirondack Company, pointed out that where there are eight farmers to the mile desiring electric service, his company would build the line, without cost to the farmer, under terms whereby each farmer would use not less than $3 worth of electricity a month, as explained above. Where there are six farmers to the mile, each farmer would be required to pay a minimum bill of $4 per month or deposit $130 with the company, as part cost of the extension, and thereby assure a minimum bill of $3.

Where there are four farmers to the mile, the minimum bill would be $8, provided the customer does not desire to share in the extension expense. In case he does, there are three ways open to him. He can deposit $130 and accept a minimum bill of $5; deposit $265 and accept a minimum bill of $4; or deposit $400 and his minimum bill will be but $3.

Each farmer's case is treated individually—that is, one farmer in the six-to-a-mile extension can agree to a minimum bill of $4, whereas his neighbor can deposit $130 and have a minimum bill of $3.

City Rates for Farmers

Service supplied to customers from these rural lines will be charged for at the regular city rates. This is another point in which the Adirondack plan differs from others, it being the company's belief that with a low price for energy the farmer can economically use it in large quantities. Other companies have felt that they must charge a higher rate per kilowatt hour than obtains in the cities or that they must have a service charge in addition to so much per kilowatt hour for all electricity used. The Adirondack Company believes that with rates on the farm as low as they are in the city the farmer can economically use considerable energy and that this abundant use of service will make it possible for the company to extend its lines to serve farm customers.

One of the greatest obstacles in present day farm electrification is that when an extension is desired not all the residents along the proposed line will agree to share the expense. Then, after a few have assumed the expense and the line is installed, the others will ask for service and there is no way to compel them to assume a proportional share of the installation cost.

Under this new plan, say, four farmers to the mile may desire electric service. They each agree to a minimum monthly bill of $8, or perhaps each deposits $400

When Better Automobiles Are Built, Buick Will Build Them

Question: Why are more women driving Buicks than any other make of six-cylinder car?

Answer: One reason is the striking appearance of this famous motor car. Then comes Buick dependability. A woman knows when she starts out with her Buick that she will "get there and back." Other reasons are—the comfort in driving a Buick—the velvet clutch action, easy steering; then the power and quietness of Buick's Valve-in-Head engine and the safety of Buick mechanical four-wheel brakes.

DIRT CHASERS

About this time of the year "mother" always begins to talk about the soiled draperies and dirt-filled rugs, and we know—Heaven help us—that we're in for an orgy of cleaning that'll turn everything upside down for 10 days. But when it's over even the most unobserving of masculine eyes can see that the house has a fresh, sweet cleanliness that's a tune with nature at this time of the year. So we say, "Go to it, mother. More power to your arm." But here are several things that'll make the job easier and get the mess out of the way more quickly.

DON'T RISK BROKEN LIMBS.

A BACK SAVER

A dust pan that will gather up sweepings without bending over. One of the handiest of household articles.

Spading Fork

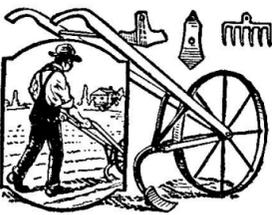

Climbing onto a pile of books or a couple of boxes unsteadily balanced in chair in order to wash windows, clean cupboards, wash ceilings, etc., is risky business. It's foolish to take this chance of broken limbs when a step ladder can be had for so small a sum. Substantially made and guaranteed to stand lots of service. 4 to 12-foot sizes.

Spading is back-breaking work at best. Reduce the grief by getting a fork made especially for spading. You can do twice the work in the same time and do it more easily. Four strong steel tines with diamond shaped backs and polished points. Also handy for planting shrubs and digging potatoes.

Time to Plant Your Garden

The right tools for preparing the ground and cultivating the growing crops take away the backbreaking drudgery and produce bigger, better crops.

HANDY CULTIVATOR

A hand cultivator will enable you to cultivate your garden in a tenth of the time it takes with a hoe; and it will do the work better. Light steel frame, exceedingly strong. Large, (number) inch wheel insures easy running. Equipped with turning plow, rake, small bull tongue, (number) inch sweep, and wrench.

Rubber Crisis Threatens America; Firestone Seeking New Sources of Supply

Left, Thomas A. Edison and Harvey S. Firestone watching a plantation expert tap a rubber tree on the Edison estate in Fort Myers, Fla. Right, Mr. Edison and Mr. Firestone with a rubber plantation expert, examining a young rubber tree on the Henry Ford Farm near Labelle, Fla.

HARVEY S. FIRESTONE more than two years ago predicted a rubber shortage, and said the British crude rubber restriction act would cost the American people millions of dollars. The British colonial possessions in the Far East produce about 80 per cent of the world's supply of rubber, while American manufacturers consume about 75 per cent of the world's supply.

Mr. Firestone has just returned to Akron, Ohio, after making a survey of possibilities of growing rubber in Florida, where he was accompanied by rubber plantation experts. On one of the tours of Florida he was accompanied by Thomas A. Edison, who made some important suggestions relative to new methods of extracting the latex or sap from rubber trees, plants and shrubs.

Rubber trees growing on the Edison estate in Fort Myers were examined, as well as those on the Ford estate in Fort Myers and the Ford farm near Labelle, Fla. A great deal of time was spent on the Government's Experimental Farm near Coconut Grove, Fla., where many varieties of rubber trees are being grown. Some of these appear to be very promising.

"Rubber is of vital importance to highway transportation," said Mr. Firestone, "and is largely responsible for our business prosperity. The British restriction act now limits production and exportation to one-half of normal production. Rubber today is about 200 per cent higher than it was when the restriction act went into effect. Rubber restriction this year will cost American car owners at least $100,000,000, and very likely $300,000,000. Every ten-cent advance in the price of crude rubber means an additional burden of about $75,000,000 to the car owners of the United States."

Mr. Firestone was instrumental in having Congress appropriate a half million dollars for the investigation of new sources of rubber supply, and he sent out several expeditions at his own expense to visit rubber producing countries, including the Philippines, Central America, Mexico and Africa, and he has today in Liberia, on the west coast of Africa, a complete organization operating a plantation and making plans to produce rubber on an extensive scale.

SEE ROSETIME.

The Woman's Club has been most fortunate in securing the new musical extravaganza "Rosetime," which will be given here at the Court House on April 28th by local talent. Special attention is being given to the music of the play and the choruses will be far above the average. The costumes are unusual and in every city where this has been produced it has been conceded to be the most beautiful of all the Sewall productions.

BAPTISTS HAVE BIG GAIN OTHER LANDS

FOREIGN MISSIONS SHOW LARGE RESULTS IN PAST TEN YEARS UNDER DR. LOVE.

TAKE OFFERINGS IN APRIL

Every Church and Individual Will Be Asked to Share In Supporting Enlarged Program.—All Interests Will Be Pushed.

No department of Southern Baptist work has shown greater progress in recent years than that of foreign missions.

Dr. J. F. Love, corresponding secretary of the Foreign Mission Board, located at Richmond, Va., is just completing ten years of service in that capacity, and the survey conducted by Dr. Aldredge shows that during that time the receipts of the board have been $16,149,994.64, whereas the receipts for the entire 78 years of the board's history have been $24,915,704.86, showing that two-thirds of the total receipts of the board since its organization in 1845 have come in during Dr. Love's administration.

DR. J. F. LOVE Secretary Baptist Foreign Mission Board

Results on Foreign Fields Large. Indicating the results which these larger receipts have made possible on the foreign fields, it is pointed out that whereas the Foreign Mission Board was operating in only seven countries ten years ago, it is now at work in seventeen countries, representing Europe, Asia, Africa, North and South America. In that brief period of time the number of foreign churches has grown from 350 to 1905, the number of mission stations other than churches from 43 to 303, number of baptisms per year from 5,252 to 12,856, members of the churches from 29,991 to 111,872, number of houses of worship from 218 to 819, number of Sunday schools from 542 to 1,511, pupils enrolled in the Sunday schools from 22,022 to 76,504, contributions by the foreign churches from $91,159.69 per year to $444,568, number of American missionaries on the field from 278 to 544, number of native Christian workers employed from 634 to 2,494, number of mission residences owned by the board from 66 to 129, number of mission schools from 339 to 860, number of pupils in these schools from 339 to 860, number of pupils in these schools from which 50 per cent of all the converts won by the missionaries come, from 9,376 to 35,106, number of American medical missionaries employed from 12 to 19, and number of medical treatments given per year from 74,829 to 294,422.

So extensive has become the foreign mission work, as well as that of home missions, state missions, Christian education, hospitals, orphanages and the work of ministerial relief fostered by Southern Baptists, that the denomination has grouped all these interests into one general program known as the 1925 Program of Southern Baptists, and all the 28,000 local white Baptist churches of the South are being asked to put on a budget that will adequately provide for all these causes, the budget to be raised through an every-member canvass of the churches every year.

Take Special Offerings in April

Inasmuch as a number of the churches have not yet completed their canvass and many churches which put it on did not enlist every member, the Headquarters Committee of the 1925 Program, in co-operation with the various state secretaries, is asking that Sunday, April 19, be observed as a day of special offerings in the churches for all the objects embraced in this general Program. Where a church holds its regular services on some other Sunday than April 19, that congregation is asked to observe the day of its regular worship with special offerings for these causes. By reason of the recent rapid expansion of all the general causes of the denomination, and to enable the boards and other agencies to discharge their heavy obligations, an effort is being made to raise a minimum of $4,000,000 in cash during the first four months of 1925. It is with a view to enlisting as nearly as possible every one of the 3,500,000 white Baptists of the South in this undertaking that the special offerings for the month of April were suggested.

Pains Very Severe

"I suffered from womanly troubles which grew worse and worse as the months went by," says Mrs. L. H. Cantrell, of R. F. D. 9, Gainesville, Georgia. "I frequently had very severe pains. These were so bad that I was forced to go to bed and stay there. It seemed to me my back would come in two."

CARDUI For Female Troubles

"I taught school for a while, but my health was so bad I would have to stay out sometimes. This went on till I got so bad I didn't know what to do. "One day I read about the merits of Cardui, and as I had some friends who had been helped by it, I thought I would try it. I began to get better after I had taken half a bottle. I decided to keep on and give it a thorough trial and I did. I took in all about 12 bottles and now I am perfectly well. I do not suffer any pain and can do all my housework." DEATH OF DR. FANSON

In the death of Rev. Dr. Vernon Fanson a widely known and esteemed man and minister passes from scenes of earth. Though not a native of Norfolk, nor continuously a resident of this city, Dr. Fanson had passed a considerable portion of his long and useful life here. He took a deep interest in Norfolk and its people. Before age had slowed his step and dimmed his eye he was prominent in all movements which looked to the good of the community. Even during the last few months of his life, when mental and physical effort were difficult and painful, he endeavored to continue to perform the duties of life and to look out for the welfare of others. He was especially interested in the City Home, of which he was long the chaplain, and did everything in his power to provide comfort and pleasure for its inmates. He made regular visits to the home even when he had become so feeble that the task was almost beyond his power.

He was the youngest of four brothers, all of whom wore the Confederate gray gallantly and three of whom attained to the rank of major. Dr. Fanson was a mere boy when he entered the ranks. He served until the bitter end and his devotion to the cause and his affection for those who were his comrades endured all through his life. He attended regularly the annual meetings of the Confederate organizations, both of Virginia and the combined states. For years he had been chaplain-general of the Virginia Grand Camp. His old comrades will mourn his death, as will the many thousands to whom he ministered here and elsewhere as a preacher of the gospel.

BETTER THAN ICE

A triumph in the household electrical refrigeration field is seen in the announcement of a new model of Frigidaire, the electric refrigerator, complete for $245.00, f. o. b. factory.

A low-priced electric refrigerator has long been sought and in this new Delco-Light product is seen an achievement which is going to mean a great deal in modern household economics.

Appalachian Power Co., local Frigidaire Dealer, speaking of this new piece of household equipment said, "Everybody knows that electric refrigeration for the household food supplies is a success and that the electric refrigerators which have been going into the homes of America for many months have brought a service and a satisfaction which are away ahead of anything which could ever be secured from cooling with melting ice.

"Electric refrigeration," he went on, "is the modern way of cooling and keeping foods in the home. We are twenty-five years into the twentieth century," he went on, "and people are demanding twentieth century conveniences. This electric refrigeration is a twentieth century improvement, a convenience that belongs with modern times and anybody who can have it, is going to put away the old-fashioned method of cooling with ice. They are going to have this automatic, clean and healthful system in their own homes wherever they can afford it, and this new, low-priced model, he pointed out, "puts it within the reach of anyone who really desires the advantages of modern twentieth century refrigeration.

"It can be had for even less than the $245.00, asked for the complete model," E. L. McConnell further explained. "This Frigidaire can be bought for the present family ice-box for $190.00, f. o. b. Dayton, Ohio, which certainly puts electric refrigeration where nobody can afford to do without it. And, he said finally, "when people come to realize how it safeguards health, how it freezes its own ice-cubes and desserts, how it saves steps and labor, how necessary it is in the equipment of the well-appointed kitchen, they are going to have it as a matter of course. There won't be any argument about it."

IN MEMORY OF LOU DEMA ANDERSON

After an illness extending over eight weeks one of the oldest ladies of Rich Valley, "Aunt" Dema Anderson, as she was commonly called by everyone, passed to her reward April 2, 1925, at 6 a. m. She was born near Chatham Hill, May 7, 1844, at the time of her death she was 80 years, 10 months and 26 days old. She leaves to mourn their loss one sister, Mrs. Mariah Byrants of Nebo, two brothers Mr. C. Y. Anderson of Saltville, and Mr. G. W. Anderson of Chatham Hill. She was never married, her mother died when she was very young, so she was raised in the home of the late Daniel Robinet of Nebo, where she was loved as a daughter and sister. Her father married the widow Carter, the mother of K. G. Carter, and later as fate would have it K. G. Carter married Daniel Robinet's daughter Margaret, who seemed like a sister to aunt Dema, and she was always loved by them and their children as if she was a near relative. She always had a kind word for everyone, and lived a true christian life being converted at the age of 16. She always delighted in hearing any one talk or sing about Jesus.

She was loved by all children because she seemed to understand them and was always so affectionate and kind to them.

She made her home most of the time with Mrs. Carter and her son and daughters.

She died at the home of Mrs. A. J. Hoover, where she was tenderly cared for. She was buried at Ridge Dale cemetery, funeral service by Rev. Ross. "Let's all strive to meet her in heaven."

WINNERS NAMED

The preliminaries for the state contest were completed Monday afternoon amid much interest and enthusiasm. It was a splendid contest and was well worth hearing. The orations were especially good and there were fourteen orators representing the school and each and every one performed well, but the judges from the Bluefield College saw fit to award the decision to Ralph Shupe, a freshman, small in stature, but firm in voice and delivery, and he met Miss Anita Commetti in the oration final, at which time Miss Commetti won the contest. Miss Commetti presented a beautiful oration, and little Mr. Shupe was very clever with his "Spartans to the Gladiators" message. Second place in the oratorical contest was awarded to Miss Beth Ward, who spoke on the subject, "World Peace."

VASTINE EDWARD WOLFE.

On March 31, 1925, much to the sorrow of his many friends, the life of Vastine Edward Wolfe ebbed out at the Abingdon Hospital.

He was born near Marion, Va., February 17, 1874 and had reached the age of 51 years, 1 month and 14 days. The cause of his death was blood poisoning which started from a slight abrasion of the skin on the left hand. Mr. Wolfe was in the prime of his life-being a splendid specimen manhood. He had never needed a physician's attention until his last illness.

For a number of years he had been a trusted employee of the Marion Table Works and as a mark of the high respect in which he was held by his employers, operations at the plant closed that his fellow workmen with their families might attend the funeral.

On October 19, 1893 he was united in marriage to Miss Anna M. Moody. He professed faith in Christ at an early age and united with Ebenezer Lutheran church where he retained his membership till death. He was well liked and kindly spoken of by all who knew him. His wife, three sisters: Mrs. H. P. Falke, Mrs. Alex Moody and Mrs. Clay Faris, and Arthur Wolfe a brother, survive him.

Funeral services conducted by Rev. E. H. Copenhaver assisted by Rev. C. E. Painter of the Methodist church were held at Ebenezer Thursday, April 2, at 2:30 p. m. in the presence of an unusually large gathering of people. Many beautiful floral designs bore further evidence to the esteem in which the deceased was held.

The Rev. W. T. Snead, Rector of the Marion Episcopal Church, left Monday for Beverly, N. J., where he will spend the next two weeks with his family, after an absence of nearly three months.

METHODIST CHURCH.

Prayer meeting Wednesday evening at 7:30. We had 350 present at Sunday School last Sunday. Let's make it 400 next Sunday.

GUARANTEED Ford used cars

Sold By Authorized Ford Dealers

An Authorized Ford Dealer has too much at stake to sell a car which will prove a disappointment. Therefore, he will sell you a good used car carrying the same guarantee as a new car.

His investment in garage and service equipment, the good will he has built up and his connection with the Ford Motor Company are assets too valuable for him to jeopardize with one unsatisfactory sale.

That is one very good reason why you can buy a used Ford car with full confidence that it has the value claimed for it.

FIRESTONE TIRES

Keen interest is being shown in the possibilities of motor transportation by truckers and shippers who are following every development with the closest attention, according to W. E. Greer Motor Co., Marion, Firestone dealers. Mr. Greer believes that motor transportation is in its infancy and predicts tremendous growth as its many economies and advantages are realized.

Mr. Greer says the trucking business has been unusually good this season and that he expects to sell more Firestone truck tires in the next six months than in any other similar period in the last five years.

"Motor transportation is growing with such leaps and bounds that few realize the development that is taking place," he said. "Bus lines are springing up everywhere. Many street railways are supplementing regular trolley service with buses.

"Railroads realize that for short and medium distance hauls motor trucks present many possibilities and a number of roads have adopted them.

"Great credit is given the Firestone Company for helping to make the motor truck the economic factor it is today. This company's development of a scientifically designed line of truck tires has been one of the greatest developments in the history of the motor truck. Firestone's advocacy of the "Ship by Truck" movement has been a big factor in popularizing the motor truck as a short haul carrier.

"Tires are not turned out by hit or miss methods. Firestone Tires are engineered with as much care and as great mathematical accuracy as is used in designing a skyscraper or in building a suspension bridge.

"There is no guess work. I have on my racks tires designed for every particular truck job and capable of meeting every condition of road, load and service. When better tires are required for any advanced motor transportation, Firestone will build them."

Judge J. L. Kelly Accidentally Shot

Killed by his own Shot Gun While Going Down Cellar Stairs In His Home in Bristol on Tuesday Morning.

Judge Kelly was shot shortly before nine o'clock Tuesday morning when in company with his small son Joseph Jr., he descended to the cellar to kill a rat that had been disturbing the family. The boy suggested that he take his rifle but the Judge said he would have a better chance to hit the rodent with his shotgun.

Judge Kelly started down the stairway ahead of his son. He had taken only a step or two when he slipped and his weapon was discharged. The charge from a 12 gauge shotgun entered his left side near the heart. Joseph Jr., was in the hall near the head of the steps when the roar of the shotgun was heard.

Members of the family were at breakfast when they heard the report of the weapon. Their screams of horror attracted neighbors, several of whom carried Judge Kelly from the basement. He was removed to a bed in an upstairs room and physicians hastily summoned.

Before his death Judge Kelly rallied for a few moments and talked to those gathered about his bedside. He complained of the intense pain and explained that his shotgun was discharged by accident. He spoke only a few words, however before he lapsed into final unconsciousness.
