PRESIDENT COOLIDGE TO THE PEOPLE.

Accepts the Nomination with Confidence in the People. Seeks Peace and Thrift --- Wants Opportunity for All --- No Government Monopolies---Helpful Foreign Policy.

Washington, Aug. 14.—No single question vital to the people of the United States was dodged by President Coolidge in the first great speech of the political campaign—his speech accepting the nomination as President offered him by the Republican party, and delivered in Washington the evening of August 14.

After outlining the sound foundation of the party system of government, the President said: "Party means political co-operation, not as an end in itself, but a means, an instrument of government. If founded upon a great moral principle and directed with scrupulous regard for its integrity, it cannot fail to sweep onward and upward, advancing always steadily and surely, a mighty constructive force, a glorious bearer of progress.

"That is what the Republican party always has been and is today. In full faith that such it will continue to be, deeply conscious of the high honor it confers and the responsibility it imposes, I accept its nomination for President of the United States.

"In the history of our country is recorded the public services rendered by our party for more than the three-score years. That is secure, I pass on to the recent past and the present."

Progress of Four Years.
The President pointed out the condition of the nation in March, 1921, when the Republicans resumed the reins of government after a lapse of eight years. Though more than two years had passed since the armistice, the nation was still technically in a state of war. No diplomatic relations existed with Turkey, Greece, Russia, Colombia or Mexico, the Far East situation caused "grave apprehensions." Because of the war, "a reckless extravagance had come to characterize the administration of public affairs and was all too prevalent in private life." The national debt had risen to the staggering total of $24,000,000,000, more than $7,000,000,000 of it in short-time obligations without provision for payment. Government bonds were below par. High war taxes burdened the people. Demobilization and liquidation were incomplete. Huge railroad accounts remained unsettled. Transportation was crippled. Unliquidated foreign debts amounted to $11,000,000,000. Banks were filled with frozen assets. Interest was high, capital scarce, and financial distress acute. About 5,000,000 were without employment. No adequate provision had been made for relieving disabled veterans and their dependents. The great powers continued to burden their peoples by building competitive armaments. An avalanche of war-worn people and cheapened merchandise impended upon America from foreign lands, the President pointed out.

Turning to the settlement of these vast problems since the start of the Republican regime, the President pointed out that treaties of world-wide importance have been ratified with Germany, Austria, Hungary, Colombia and Mexico, that 42 other treaties have met with the approval of the senate, while 6 still await action. Friendly intercourse with Greece and Turkey has been resumed. Peace and American rights have been assured in the Far East and the Pacific.

Turning to finance, the President called attention to the enactment of the budget system, and the resultant tremendous savings.

"For the fiscal year ending June 30, 1921," President Coolidge said, "our expenditures were $5,538,000,000 and our surplus was $86,000,000. For the year just closed our expenditures were $3,497,000,000, and our surplus exceeded $500,000,000. This was a reduction in the annual cost of government of $2,041,000,000. The public debt now stands at about $21,250,000,000, which is a reduction in three years of about $2,750,000,000 and means an annual saving in interest of more than $120,000,000. The $7,000,000,000 of short-time obligations have all been quietly refunded or paid. The internal revenue taxes have been reduced twice, and many of them repealed, so that during the present fiscal year the tax receipts show a saving to the people of approximately $6,000,000 a day compared with 1921. One government bond has sold well over 105."

The President pointed out that more than 40 per cent of the debt due us from foreign nations has been liquidated, providing funds for liquidating about $13,000,000,000 of the national debt during a 62-year term.

"The finances of this nation have been managed with a genius and a success unmatched since the days of Hamilton," Mr. Coolidge declared.

"A great revival of industry took place, which is spreading to agriculture. Complaint of unemployment has ceased, wages have increased. Capital has become plentiful at a low rate of interest," Mr. Coolidge declared, "and the banks of our country, as a whole, show a high percentage of liquid assets."

Speaking of the generous laws passed to relieve disabled veterans, the President said that more than 71,000 have been rehabilitated, 38,000 of whom are earning more than they did before the war. Compensation is being paid at the rate of about $100,000,000 a year, soon to be increased by $30,000,000 more, $40,000,000 have been provided for hospital facilities, which are open to veterans of all American wars.

"No government," the President declared, "ever provided so generously for those disabled by service in time of war."

Touching the exclusion law and restricted immigration generally, the President said: "Restricted immigration is not an offensive but a purely defensive action. It is not adopted in criticism of others in the slightest degree, but solely for the purpose of protecting ourselves. We cast no aspersions on any race or creed, but we must remember that every object of our institutions of society and government will fall unless America be kept American."

Next the President dealt with the tariff. "By means of a protective tariff," he said, "we have saved American agriculture, labor, and industry from the menace of having their great home market destroyed through the dumping upon it of a flood of foreign products. Under this wise policy we saw an economic revival, and our people as a whole, in marked distinction from the sufferers from the financial distress and depression of other lands, have come into an era of prosperity and plenty. As a source of revenue the tariff surpassed all expectations in producing an annual return of the unprecedented sum of about $550,000,000. A fiscal policy which places a large and much needed revenue in the public treasury, while stimulating business to a condition of abounding prosperity, defends itself against any criticism. Its merits are demonstrated by its results. We have protected our own inhabitants from the economic disaster of an invasion of too many foreign people or too much foreign merchandise."

The Washington Conference.
Next the acceptance speech dealt with the Washington conference whereby an end was put to the ruinous competitive naval armaments of world powers, the importance of which has never been fully realized by the people in general, Mr. Coolidge declared.

Turning to the "honest government" issue, President Coolidge pointed out bluntly that in all his studies of political history he could not recall an administration which was desirous of a dishonest government that, to check extravagance, introduced a budget system, cut taxes, purged pay rolls, made enormous reductions in the public debt and laid firmer foundations for the peace of the world.

President Coolidge declared he favored the system of private American enterprise and was opposed to the extension of government ownership and control; that he believed in economy in public expenditures and the practical application of the theory; that he believed in tax reduction and tax reform; that he favored protection.

Favors Permanent Court.
"I favor the permanent court and further limitation of armaments," the President said. "I am opposed to aggressive war. I shall avoid involving ourselves in the political controversies of Europe, but I shall do what I can to encourage American citizens and resources to assist in restoring Europe, with the sympathetic support of our government. I want agriculture and industry on a sound basis of prosperity and equality. I shall continue to strive for the economic, moral and spiritual welfare of my country. American citizens will decide in the coming election whether these principles shall have their approval and support."

"The domestic affairs of our country appear to me to be by far the chief concern. From this source comes our strength. The home market consumes nearly all our production. Within our own boundaries will be determined to a very large degree the economic welfare and the moral worth of the American people. These are plain facts, but there are others equally plain."

Reaffirming his opposition to entrance into the League of Nations as a surrender of independence, the President favored becoming a member of the permanent Court of International Justice, "as peace means fundamentally a reign of law." Entrance into the so-called World court "would do much to indicate our determination to restrain the rule of force and solidly and sustain the rule of reason among nations," Mr. Coolidge said.

America Helps Europe.
The President reviewed the difficulties of Europe and the unavailing efforts to find a way out until the American plan, proposed in 1922, was finally adopted, under which the reparations commission appointed a committee of experts, whose three American members included Gen. Charles G. Dawes, the President's running mate on the Republican ticket. The appointment of General Dawes as chairman and the report which has met world-wide approval were pointed out.

When the reparations plan is in operation, the President said, he would consider it time to approach the great powers with the proposal for another conference to limit armaments still further and devise plans for the codification of international law.

"I trust that never again will the women of this nation be called on to sacrifice their loved ones to the terrible scourge of war," President Coolidge said.

Touching Latin America, the President said that we have constantly striven to come to more complete understandings with those nations. He rectified the help given Mexico to avert domestic violence there, and the indication of a policy of making it worth while for a government to conduct itself so as to merit recognition. He pointed to the written agreement with Mexico to negotiate a treaty of amity and commerce such as has not been in existence since 1851.

Equal Opportunities for All.
Of discrimination of all kinds, President Coolidge said: "This is one country; we are one people united by common interests. There should be no favorites and no outcasts; no race or religious prejudices in the government. America opposes special privilege for anybody, and favors equal opportunity for everybody. It has adopted these conclusions because they are the logical conclusions of our ideals of freedom. Moreover, we believe they contribute to our material welfare. We oppose the artificial supports of privilege and monopoly because they are both unjust and uneconomic. They are not right. They do not work."

The Farm Situation.
Reviewing the situation of the farmer, the President said that one of the first thoughts in 1921 was for the relief and revival of agriculture as a fundamental industry, and touched upon the credits of between three and four hundred million dollars extended through the War Finance Corporation, an additional $50,000,000 provided for the relief of the cattle industry, and the formation of a $10,000,000 corporation in the spring which, it was estimated, can furnish $100,000,000 for diversification and relief in the North-west. He told of the activities of the intermediate credit banks, directly and indirectly assisting 500,000 farmers.

The President commented on the present upturn of prices for agricultural products.

"The government rendered a great deal of assistance," he said, "and private enterprise co-operated, but the fundamental remedy was provided, as it always must be provided, not so much through the enactment of legislative laws as through the working out of economic laws. Because the farmers have thoroughly realized this, they have on the whole opposed price fixing by legislation. While maintaining that sound position, they have seen a partial relief come in a natural way, as it was bound to come."

"We now need in agriculture more organization, co-operation, and diversification. The farmer should have the benefit of legislation providing for flood control and development of inland waterways, better navigation east and south from the Great Lakes, reclamation, and especially relief for those who cannot meet their payments on irrigation projects. But the main problem is marketing. Co-operative effort, reorganization of the freight-rate structure, good business, and good wages in manufacturing, and the settlement of European affairs will all help to provide better market conditions."

"The Republican platform recognizes that agriculture should be on a basis of economic equality with other industries. This is easy to say, but the farmers themselves and their advisers have never been able to agree on a plan to provide it by law. Now that nature and economic law have given some temporary relief, I propose, therefore, to appoint a committee to investigate and report measures to the congress in December that may help secure this result which we all desire. I want profitable agriculture established permanently. I want to see the dollar of the farmer always purchase as much as any other dollar."

"Under the policy of protection and restrictive immigration," he asserted, "no deflation of wages has occurred. While the cost of living has gone down, wages have advanced. The 12-hour day and the seven-day week have practically been abolished. The uninterrupted operation of public utilities with mutually satisfactory and legally established methods of adjusting labor questions have been sought. Collective bargaining and voluntary arbitration have been encouraged. Republican rule has raised the wage earner to a higher standard than he ever occupied before anywhere in the world."

Reduction of Expenses.
President Coolidge then pointed out that the people of the country, because of the war have had to recreate nearly one-fifth of our national resources. We can make up the loss, he said, only by saving part of what we produce each day.

"It is for that reason," he continued, "that the present administration has made every possible effort to cut down the expenses of government. The expenses of the government reach everybody. Taxes take from everyone a part of his earnings, and force everyone to work for a certain part of his time for the government."

"When we come to realize that the yearly expenses of all the governments in this country have reached the stupendous sum of about $7,500,000,000, we get some idea of what this means. Of this amount about $3,500,000,000 is needed by the national government, and the remainder by local governments. Such a sum is difficult to comprehend. It represents all the pay of 5,000,000 wage earners receiving $5 a day, working 300 days in the year. If the government should add on $100,000,000 of expense, it would represent four days more work of these wage earners. These are some of the reasons why I want to cut down public expense.

"Because of my belief in these principles, I favor economy that the taxes of everybody may be reduced. Much has already been done. The bill which I signed will save the people about $1,000,000 each day. I want further tax reduction and more tax reform.

The raising of the revenue required to conduct our government is intimately connected with our economic welfare. If it is done by wise and just laws, the burden will be most easily borne. But if the method of taxation is not sound disaster will follow, reaching even to financial panic. Our first thought should be to maintain unimpaired the activity of agriculture and industry as sound, I submit them with abiding faith to the judgment of the American people."

That tax is theoretically best which interferes least with business.

Asks Just Taxation.
"Only about 3,500,000 people pay direct income taxes. The remainder pay, but pay indirectly, in the cost of all purchases; from a pair of shoes to a railroad ticket. This country has at least 107,000,000 of these indirect taxpayers. I am not disturbed about the effect on a few thousand people with large incomes because they have to pay high surtaxes. They can take care of themselves, whatever happens, as the rich always can. What concerns me is the indirect effect of high surtaxes on all the rest of the people. Let us always remember the poor. Whatever cry the demagogue may make about his ability to tax the rich, at the end of the year it will always be found that the people as a whole have paid the taxes. We should, therefore, have a system of taxation under which the people as a whole are most likely to be prosperous. Our country will be better off if, disregarding those who appeal to jealousy and envy, it follows in taxation and all else the straight path of justice."

For Economical Campaign.
"Economy should be practiced scrupulously in the conduct of a national campaign. I know it is difficult to distinguish between real service to the people and mere wastefulness. Costs have increased by doubling of the electorate, rendering close calculation impossible.

"Nevertheless, I can perceive no reason why the budget system should not be beneficial in a campaign, as it has proved to be in government. It is to be tested by our committee.

"I would make clearly and definitely one other requirement, that no individual, or group of individuals, may expect any governmental favors in return for party assistance. Whatever anyone gives must be given for the common good, or not at all. Contributions can be received on no other basis.

"For the first time after having opportunity fully to organize, the women of the nation are bringing the new force which they represent directly to bear on our political affairs. I know that the influence of womanhood will guard the home, which is the citadel of the nation. I know it will be a protector of childhood. I know it will be on the side of humanity. I welcome it as a great instrument of mercy and a mighty agency of peace. I want every woman to vote.

"The Constitution is the sole source and guaranty of national freedom. We believe that the safest place to declare and interpret the Constitution which the people have made is in the Supreme court of the United States.

"Under our institutions there is no limitation on the aspirations a mother may have for her children. That system I pray to continue. This country would not be a land of opportunity, America would not be America, if the people were shackled with government monopolies.

"Our country has adopted prohibition and provided by legislation for its enforcement. It is the duty of the citizen to observe the law, and the duty of the Executive to enforce. I propose to do my duty as best I can.

For Child Labor Amendment.
"Our different states have had different standards, or no standards at all, for child labor. The congress should have authority to provide a uniform law applicable to the whole nation which will protect childhood. Our country cannot afford to let anyone live off the earnings of its youth of tender years. Their places are not in the factory, but in the school, that the men and women of tomorrow may reach a higher state of existence and the nation a higher standard of citizenship.

"I am in favor of national defense, not merely as an abstract state of mind, but as a concrete mode of action. I favor not merely talking about it, but doing something about it. I do not want the safety of my country to be immersed in its domestic or for-

Common Sense Greatest Asset.
"We are likely to hear a great deal of discussion about liberal thought and progressive action. It is well for the country to have liberality in thought and progress in action, but its greatest asset is common sense. In the commonplace things of life lies the strength of the nation. It is not in brilliant conceptions and strokes of genius that we shall find the chief reliance of our country, but in the home, in the school, and in religion. America will continue to defend these shrines. Every evil force that seeks to desecrate or destroy them will find that a Higher Power has endowed the people with an inherent spirit of resistance. The people know the difference between pretense and reality. They want to be told the truth. They want to be trusted. They want a chance to work out their own material and spiritual salvation. The people want a government of common sense.

"These, Mr. Chairman, are some of the beliefs which I hold, some of the principles which I propose to support. Because I am convinced that they are true, because I am satisfied that they

Two Notable Weddings

BAUGHMAN-ATKINS.

Royal Oak Presbyterian church was the scene of a beautiful wedding, Tuesday, August 12, at 7:20 in the evening, when Miss Elizabeth Campbell Atkins and Dr. Charles Baughman were united in marriage by the pastor, Rev. G. A. Wilson, Jr., assisted by Rev. E. H. Copenhaver, of the Lutheran church, Handsome ferns, and tall graceful baskets of Golden Glow and Queen Anne's Lace added a background of mountain laurel, made a lovely setting for the wedding party. Mrs. J. P. Buchanan rendered an exquisite musical program and accompanied Miss Nellie Staley while she sang in her sweet, contralto voice, "All For You," and "Believe Me if All Endearing Charms." To the strains of Mendelssohn's wedding march, the attendants, Messrs. Stuart Staley, Crockett Gwyn, Fred Cole, Evelyn Spence, Beattie Gwyn and Jessie Baughman, ordered, followed by the bridesmaids, Misses Margaret Atkins, groomed in blue georgette crepe with cream silk lace flounce, carrying pink roses, tied with blue tulle, Miss Helen Atkins, in off-rose georgette crepe, Miss Mary Gwyn, in green georgette, Sena Bryant, in pink georgette, the matron of honor, Mrs. Thomas Lehman, of Pittsburg, Pa., in yellow georgette, Mrs. Marvin Anderson of Salem, Va., in lavender georgette, each carrying pink roses, tied with tulle to match the gown, Miss Mary Atkins, maid of honor, wearing orange and blue georgette carrying sunset roses tied with orange tulle, little Misses Eva Jones, dressed in yellow georgette and Elizabeth Holmes, in blue georgette, carried baskets of white rose petals, strewn them as they took their places around the altar, Alice Claudis Culbert, daintily dressed in white georgette, carried the ring on a white satin pillow. Dr. Charles Baughman, with his best man, Mr. Harry Baughman, met the bride leaning on the arm of her father, in front of the altar where the beautiful ring ceremony was performed.

The stately young bride was handsomely gowned in heavy white satin, with panels of white lace embroidered in pearls, the court train embroidered in pearl meshwork, the lacy veil covering the pearl and lace head dress, entwined with orange blossoms carrying an exquisite bridal bouquet of brides roses and orange blossoms. The brides only ornament was a rare emerald necklace, given to her mother by her great aunt in England, and especially becoming to the lovely bride of the Paganottas type of brunette beauty.

Following the ceremony a reception was given at the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. W. J. Atkins, who, with the bridal party, composed the receiving line. Yellow and white only scheme carried out in the floral decorations of the home. Refreshing fruit punch was served by Mrs. B. D. Staley, on the vine covered veranda, a salad and ice course was served by the girl friends of the bride.

Attired in a handsome tan costume the bride stood on the stairway and threw her bridal bouquet which was caught by her sister, Margaret, who also cut the ring in the Bride's Cake.

REPUBLICANS OPEN CAMPAIGN IN BLAND COUNTY.

Large Concourse of People Addressed by Hon. P. J. Davenport, Hon. Roland E. Chase, and Hon. Livingstone J. Dillow and Hon. L. P. Summers.

On Monday last at Bland Court House, Bland County the Republicans opened their campaign in this County, a large assemblage of the people being in attendance.

Judge Fulton Kegley adjourned his Court at 11 A. M. until 2 P. M. to allow the speakers an opportunity to use the Court Room and promptly at 11 A. M. the meeting was called to order by County Chairman J. C. Honaker who after a few appropriate remarks introduced Hon. P. J. Davenport of Abingdon who for about one hour addressed the people upon the issues of this campaign and urged there active support of Hon. L. P. Summers for Congress, emphasizing his peculiar fitness and qualifications for this position.

His speech was highly appreciated and enjoyed by all. Mr. Davenport in closing introduced Hon. L. J. Dillow who addressed the convention briefly but to the point and predicted a great victory in the 9th District in November. Mr. Dillow is a young Giles County Republican of great promise.

Mr. Dillow in closing introduced Hon. Roland E. Chase of Clintwood who spoke briefly but came to tell the people of Bland that his people meant to elect Mr. Summers to Congress in November. He predicted an overwhelming victory in November for Coolidge-Dawes and Summes.

Mr. Chase in closing introduced Hon. L. P. Summers who for about one hour discussed many of the question of this campaign in his usual fluent manner and greatly to the delight of the audience.

His principal subjects of discussion were the tariff, economy in government and the accomplishments of the Harding and Coolidge administrations.

The importance of an economical government and relief from taxation and the presence of a man in the Congress of the United States from this District who would stand behind President Coolidge in his efforts to relieve the taxpayer was the prevailing thought for this meeting and the audience was greatly impressed along this line.

DEMOCRATS FOR PROTECTION

Jefferson, Madison, Monroe, Jackson—all honored names in history, certainly. And all Democrats! "Ours is the party of Jefferson", the 1924 Democrat boasts.

But is it? Would Jefferson own as his the party that would lead us into the fires of Europe, to be scorched by the flaming hatreds of wrangling nations?

Would the statesman who was opposed to giving 'advantage to foreign over our domestic manufacturers' subscribe to, or even condone, the diatribes his political posterity now directs against the Republican protective tariff policy?

While the Davis-Bryan Democrats are marshalling forces for attacks on the Fordney-McCumber tariff law, would it not be well to thumb some old records to see again just how the Jefferson-Madison-Jackson brand of Democrat stood on this issue?

Thomas Jefferson in his sixth annual message said: "Shall we suppress the imposts (duties) and give that advantage to foreign over our domestic manufacturers? On a few articles of more general and necessary use, the suppression in due season will doubtless be right; but the great mass of the articles on which imposts are laid are foreign luxuries, purchased by those only who are rich enough to afford themselves the use of them."

My own idea is that we should encourage home manufactures to the extent of our own consumption of everything of which we raise the raw materials." (From letter to Humphrey.)

In 1817 he said, in accepting an election to membership in a Society for the Encouragement of Domestic Manufactures:

"The history of the last twenty years has been a significant lesson for us all to depend for necessities on ourselves alone; and I hope twenty years more will place the American hemisphere under a system of its own, essentially peaceable and industrious and not needing to extract its comforts out of the eternal fires raging in the Old World."

James Madison in his special message to Congress in 1902 said:

"It will be worthy of the just and provident care of Congress to make such further alterations in the laws as will more especially protect and foster the several branches of manufacture which have been recently instituted or extended by the laudable exertions of our citizens."

James Monroe in his inaugural message showed how clearly he realized the importance of a home market in the following words:

"Our manufactures will likewise require the systematic and fostering care of the Government. Possessing, as we do, all the raw materials, the fruit of our own soil and industry, we ought not to depend, in the degree we have done, on supplies from other countries. Equally important is it to provide at home a market for our raw materials, as by extending the competition it will enhance the price and protect the cultivator against the casualties incident to foreign markets."

And in the seventh annual message he said:

"Having formerly communicated my views to Congress respecting the encouragement which ought to be given to our manufactures, and the principles on which it should be founded I have only to add that views remain unchanged. I recommend a review of the Tariff for the purpose of affording such additional protection to those articles which we are prepared to manufacture, or which are more immediately connected with the defence and independence of the country."

Andrew Jackson said in 1824 in the United States Senate:

"Providence has filled our mountains and our plains with minerals, with lead, iron, and copper—and given us a climate and soil for the growing of hemp and wool. These being the greatest materials of our national defence they ought to have extended to them adequate and fair protection, that our manufacturers and laborers may be placed in a fair competition with those of Europe and that we may have within our country a supply of those leading and important articles so essential in war. We have been too long subject to the policy of British merchants. It is time we should become a little more Americanized; and, instead of feeding the paupers and laborers of England, feed our own; or else in a short time by continuing our present policy (that under the Tariff of 1816) we shall all be rendered paupers ourselves. It is my opinion, therefore, that a careful and judicious Tariff is much wanted."

Would it be indelicate to commend these excerpts to those who drafted the tariff plank of the Democratic party?

MEETING POSTPONED

The regular meeting of the Kiwanis Club, scheduled for Tuesday night, August 12th, was postponed owing to the desire of many of the members of the Club to attend the wedding of a brother member, Dr. Chas. B. Baughman, which would take place the same hour as the meeting of the Club. There is some talk that the adjourned meeting will take place later in the week, when it is rumored that there will be a delegation of brethren Kwanians from a neighboring town present; but of this more later.

"Standard" is the dealer's choice

When a dealer's earnings depend much on the sale of gasoline you may be sure he selects his brand only after thorough study. "Standard" Gasoline stands first with dealers. Count the pumps!

"Standard" Gasoline is as popular with the dealer as it is with the motorist. The men who choose this brand to sell are hard headed business men. They know that the public demands quality and that they can get their share of the business only by carrying what the public wants. Judging by the number of "Standard" pumps you see it's "Standard" Gasoline that the public wants.

There is a sound, substantial reason behind this popularity. "Standard" Gasoline has built up and maintained a reputation for quality since motors first replaced the horse. Quality does not show on the surface. Most gasolines look alike. Your best guarantee of quality is this popularity, for it is based on past performance and the personal experiences of millions of motorists.

New Buildings at College

ATHLETIC BUILDING IS EQUIPPED FOR SPORTS

New Annex Contains Dining Room, Infirmary and 24 Rooms for Students

At the beginning of the fall term, the new annex, virtually two complete buildings, of the Marion Junior College will be ready for occupancy, as was predicted by President C. Brown Cox.

The college will begin the 1924-25 session with two additions: The new wing and a new athletic building which was finished more than a month ago.

Shortly after the start of the next term there will be a three-cornered celebration, school authorities say. Both buildings will be formally opened and the semi-centennial of the college will be observed fittingly. The date for the festivities will be announced later.

The athletic building is equipped for virtually all kinds of indoor sports for girls. It compares favorably with other athletic buildings in Virginia's schools for women. The new annex contains dining room, infirmary, numerous class rooms and 24 new rooms for boarding students. "These rooms for students were necessary," President Cox said. "We knew that we would need them. We had to look to the future. It appears today that the enrollment is going to be greater than ever this fall. We have to have some place for the newcomers."

Although no definite plans for the semi-centennial celebration have been formulated, H. L. Bonham, of Chilhowie, vice-president of the board of trustees, stated that there will certainly be an old-fashioned barbecue. Guests will be present from far and near. A feature of the occasion will be the presentation of an oil painting of the founder of the college, Dr. J. J. Scherer, who died in 1919. "There has been a big growth of the college since Dr. Scherer founded it in 1874," said President Cox. "In 1910 the original buildings were no longer suitable. They were torn down and the present brick structure was erected. The college granted degrees then, but two years later it became a strictly junior college. There has been a steady growth ever since, as one can see by contemplating the new athletic building and the almost completed wing of the college proper."

President Cox said that he looks for many guests for the semi-centennial festivities. The college has registered for the 1924-25 session many students from neighboring states, while many states farther away will be represented in the student body. "Some of the biggest men in this part of America have been trustees of Marion College," he said in conclusion. "Of course, in the fifty years of the service of the college many of the trustees have died. We will unveil memorial tablets to them at the celebration in the fall."

MUSIC SECTION.

"TUNES" MAKE MUSIC GREAT IN ALL LANDS

"I find it difficult to master my liking for tune," writes James Agate. Most people find it impossible.

Boston took just pride in her early recognition of Wagner's genius and did nobly in furnishing respectably filled houses for the first seasons of the presentations of his works. Then came a company producing "Il Trovatore," and the doors closed with long queues awaiting admission. As the audience left after scenes of the wildest enthusiasm, one of the "Hub's" most respected critics was heard to remark, "Well, Boston still likes a tune."

In spite of our friends of "Modernism," the stubborn fact remains that every composer who has moved the world has been a writer of tunes. Every piece of music which the world has taken to its great heart has, among its other art qualities, included a "tune" which rang itself into the very soul of the performer and hearer. My dear Mr. Agate, do go right on, happy in the enjoyment of your tunes —Giulio di Conti in The Etude.

HERE'S A MAYOR WHO IS ALSO A BOOSTER OF MUSIC

Pleas for municipal aid to music win an especially practical response from the mayor of Macon, Ga., for the reason that he is himself a musician. Mayor Luther Williams showed such responsiveness when he took the initiative for Macon's observing the National Music Week and asked the Philharmonic Society to carry out the idea. Mayor Williams was made honorary chairman of the local Music Week committee. He also took part in one of the concerts.

Now in his seventies, Mayor Williams came to Macon in his early manhood and has raised a large family, all of whom are musical. One son heads a local firm of music merchants and another was director of community singing during the World War. The Mayor and two of his sons have been members of the Christ Episcopal Church choir for thirty years or more. There of his sons and the Mayor himself sang in the chorus which took part in the sacred concert of the recent Music Week.—National Bureau for the Advancement of Music.

Mascagni Produces Aida.

The New York Times in a copy-right dispatch from Vienna tells of a wonderful open air performance of "Aida" produced there by Pietro Mascagni, the Italian opera composer and conductor. More than a thousand people participated in the performance. It is said Mascagni proposes to give a similar performance in this country when he comes over in the Fall.—The Roanoke Times.

TYPHOID AT CLINCHBURG

The past week has witnessed an epidemic of cases of typhoid fever at the town of Clinchburg. We learn on Monday that there has been reported forty cases, and it is feared that there will be more yet. Miss Bethea, the County Red Cross Nurse was sent there as an emergency until the State could get help on the ground, and we now understand that the State Board has already got one doctor and several nurses there. As far as we have learned there has only been one death up to the present.

NEWS BOY HANDLES DOPE.

The Narcotic Inspectors, from Nashville, Tenn., took into custody, Prince Adams, a news boy on Number 26, Wednesday. Prince had a large quantity of morphine in his possession, for which he could not account, when captured. The Inspectors appeared before Mr. J. D. Perkins, of Marion, a United States Commissioner, and made their complaint and had the warrant issued.

A Family Re-Union.

THE UMBERGER FAMILY TO HOLD FAMILY REUNION ON AUGUST 21st.

The third biennial reunion of the Virginia branch of the Umberger family will be held at Lebanon on the Lee Highway, six miles west of Wytheville, on Thursday, August 21, 1924. The program for the day will include some account of the history of this family in the community of Lebanon, the organization of the congregation there, and the life and work of Rev. James A. Brown and Rev. John C. Repass, who served the congregation through the early period of its growth. This will be interspersed with songs, recitations and a picnic dinner.

Since there is a wide connection of the family in the local community and a large number of its members in nearby counties, it is expected that a large crowd will be present and that all who are not too far away will bring full baskets. All Umbergers and their kinsfolks, all members of the Lebanon congregation, all ministers who have labored in the community, and all who are interested in the history and welfare of the people are most cordially invited. A special invitation is extended to the descendants of Michael Neff, Sr., of Wythe county, into whose family four of the pioneer Umbergers married.

Those who may desire conveyance from the morning or noon trains at Wytheville, Va., in time for such arrangements to be made. The grounds will be in charge of Messrs. Simon Umberger, Stuart Catron and Garland Copenhagen.

Avoid Using Castor Oil

—W. L. Hand.

Nobody likes to give or take castor oil. There is really hardly any need for it since the invention of Liv-o-lax.

And Liv-o-lax fills a double need. It has a marked action on the liver as well as the digestive tract, and so it can be used in cases of bilious attack, and when a cold is coming on, it takes the place of calomel and castor oil. Literally hundreds of mothers have earnestly thanked me for putting this good remedy on the market.

Children love to take Liv-o-lax and it is just as good for the same conditions in adults.

A bottle of Liv-o-lax costs but 30c at any drug store.

Beware of Counterfeits!

Every year, millions of boys and girls and men and women ask trustingly for Orange-Crush, Lemon-Crush, or Lime-Crush—only to receive an out-and-out counterfeit.

Every year, thousands of honest dealers are penalized because of a "guy around the corner" who persists in trying to "slip something over."

True, millions and millions of bottles of genuine Crushes were actually served last year.

But—no one could possibly guess how many people there were who asked for a Ward's "Crush" and got something not so good.

This Bottle Identifies The Real

Counterfeiters don't waste time on German marks; they try to imitate American dollars.—All of which is a compliment to the real thing.

Here is why Orange-Crush is deliciously different from all imitations: (1) The natural fruit oil of oranges; (2) The natural acid of the citrus fruits (oranges, lemons and limes); (3) Orange juice; (4) Pure carbonated water; (5) U. S. Certified food color; (6) Pure cane sugar.

Quench your thirst today with a Ward's "Crush," icy cold—but—be sure it's served you in the Krinkly Bottle.—You'll find it well worth fighting for—if necessary.

Orange Crush Bottling Company, MARION, VIRGINIA.

The Answer

Very often we are asked in what form money should be carried by persons going abroad.

American Express Travelers Cheques—that's our answer because those Cheques are as good as gold anywhere travelers go; because they protect travelers' funds against loss; because they are self-identifying, and can be cashed only by the original purchaser, and because in the neat little leather wallets in which they are issued Travelers Cheques are convenient to carry.

The sale of Travelers Cheques comprises only one of the many services this bank offers to travelers.

The Churches of Virginia

LESS THAN HALF PEOPLE OF VIRGINIA MEMBERS OF ANY CHURCH, SURVEY SHOWS

Richmond.—Considerably less than half the people of Virginia are members of any church, according to figures on the margin of a large map of the state just issued by the Virginia Baptist board of missions and education, and showing the location of each of the 1,161 Baptist churches of Virginia.

With a state population of 2,309,187 there are "about 960,000 members of all faiths and 1,349,187 non-members," it is stated. The population of the world is fixed at 1,646,491,000 with 665,510,000 "nominal Christians" and 1,080,981,000 otherwise.

In addition to the 1,161 churches of the state, the denomination has 1,090 Sunday schools, 840 B. Y. P. U.'s, 2,664 W. M. M.'s and church property valued at $9,539,656.

Statistics along the margin of the map show the progress of the Baptists in Virginia. In 1923 there were 40,000 members in Virginia and West Virginia including negroes, and these gave $233 to benevolences. In 1923 there were 209,680 white Baptist in the state, who gave $1,083,983.54 to benevolences.

In addition a total of $2,115,701.33 was given to home expenses in 1923. There was hardly any Sunday-school enrollment in 1823, only 2,875 in 1848, and 77,779 in 1898, but in 1923 there were 178,157 enrolled in the Sunday schools of the state.

The number of churches in each of the twenty-nine district, associations of Virginia is also given as follows: Accomac, 34; Albemarle, 25; Appomattox, 45; Augusta, 43; Blackwater, 30; Blue Ridge, 41; Clinch Valley, 30; Concord, 47; Dan River, 30; Dover, 63; Goshen, 47; Harman, 25; James River, 28; Lebanon, 52; Middle district, 38; New London, 44; New River, 25; Peninsula, 28; Petersburg, 35; Piedmont, 35; Portsmouth, 43; Potomac, 62; Powell River, 26; Rappahannock, 64; Shiloh, 41; Strawberry, 56; Valley, 65.

Concerning mission work, it is stated that $66,437.06 was expected in 1923 in aiding 153 missionary pastors, who occupied 447 stations, preached 14,770 sermons, reported 2,454 conversions and 2,695 baptisms and collected on their fields for building and repairs, $174,582.19.

There are now 840 B. Y. P. U.'s in the state, with a total membership of approximately 34,000, and growing at the rate of about 100 unions each year. Twenty years ago the denomination had five schools with 7000 pupils and property and endowment amounting to $750,000. There are now fourteen schools with 3,000 pupils, with property and endowment of $5,520,076.

The map bears a star for each Baptist church in Virginia, with every star numbered. A key on the back of the map gives the names of these churches.

Officer Abernathy Says Tanlac Has No Equal

"It looks like the best way to get well and stay well is to take Tanlac," recently said W. E. Abernathy, 1126 Shepherd St., Petersburg, Va., popular traffic officer on the Petersburg police force. "Take me, for instance. It has been over two years since Tanlac fixed me up and I never have to take a dose of medicine. But before that, my appetite wasn't worth a cent and I couldn't eat a thing without suffering from gas pains and bloating. Nervousness robbed me of considerable sleep, constipation was always bothering me, I lost weight right along and my weak, broken down condition came near putting a stop signal on my work. "A friend recommended Tanlac and in less than a month, I didn't have a complaint in the world. I gained back my weight, found myself enjoying fine health and from then to now I have felt just fine. Tanlac is well worth a trial by anyone." Tanlac is for sale by all good druggists. Accept no substitute. Over 40 Million bottles sold.

Drowned at Mill Dam

JOSEPH CRAWFORD LOSES HIS LIFE WHILE IN BATHING AT STALEY'S MILL DAM.

Leaving home full of health and in a few short hours being brought back a lifeless corpse is the record of a happening that took place in Marion last Sunday that shocked our entire community. Yet this is the story of the end of the life of Joseph B. Crawford, a young man that was a general favorite with all the people of our town who knew him well. Crawford with a party of young men had gone to the Staley mill dam on the Holston river to go in swimming between three and four o'clock Sunday afternoon. They had been in the water for some time and were getting ready to go back to town, when young Crawford was swimming across the stream, and on the return trip when about the middle of the dam was heard to cry for help, and struggling in the water was seen to sink. At first his companions thought that he was merely playing, as the whole party had been frolic more or less; but they soon saw that this was a mistake and that Crawford was in danger and they made every effort to help him. He only came to the surface of the water once and then sank to the bottom.

His companions did every thing that was possible to rescue him; Frank Greer, E. H. Pearell, and young Albert Francis persisted in their feverish efforts to help young Crawford. Young Francis dived again and again in search of Crawford's body and finally was able to locate it, and got his legs wrapped around it, and with the aid of Greer and Pearell who caught hold of Francis were able to get it to the shore.

Here every effort possible was made to resuscitate the body. Dr. Baughman, who had been hastily summoned from the town, used every effort that is known to restore life, but all to no avail, life was extinct. Exactly what caused Crawford to sink in mid-stream is of course a supposition, for while he was not an expert swimmer he was a fair one, and had swam over the river at that point several times that day as well as having dived; it is supposed that he must have been taken with cramps.

This accident is a most distressing one. Mr. Crawford came to Marion from Roanoke about two years ago, and has been engaged in the insurance business. He was a young man, only 22 years of age, and leaves a young wife and three small children. He was a very entertaining and agreeable companion, accommodating and pleasant, and a general favorite with a large circle of friends and companions. The sympathy of our entire community is extended to his stricken wife in this sudden bereavement.

His body was taken to Roanoke Monday for interment, on No. 14, where he has relatives living.

Mr. and Mrs. B. W. Harris and children of Crockett, spent the weekend in the home of Mr. W. T. Scott.

Mrs. L. M. Latane, returned to Marion Saturday, after spending the past three weeks as the guest of relatives in Indianapolis, Ind., and visiting several western cities.

Dr. B. P. Sanders will be in Marion (Dr. Copenhavers Office,) Monday, August 4th. Have your eyes tested and glasses fitted.

B. P. SANDERS.

DICKINSON-KING

The home of Mrs. Mildred Matson was the scene of the simple but impressive wedding of Doctor Clara King of Radford, Virginia, and Mr. Burt Dickinson of Marion, Wednesday August 13 at 11 o'clock. The house was decorated with English Ivy and Golden Glow. Immediately preceding the ceremony Mrs. Nathan Dickinson sang "Because" accompanied by Mrs. Roy Repass. The bride wore silver brocade which was simply draped and caught with pearl ornaments. The veil was arranged in coronet style. The ceremony was performed by Rev. Copenhaver of the Lutheran church. Only the family and close friends of the couple were present.

The out of town guests were: Mrs. J. C. King of Radford, Mrs. W. W. Dickinson and Mrs. N. L. Dickinson, of Norfolk, Mrs. Hiter Robinson of Norton, Mrs. George Urquhart of Lynchburg, Miss Katherine Copenhagen of Richmond, Miss Emily Barksdale of Roanoke, and Mr. James King of Radford.

IN MEMORY

One year ago today a beautiful tribute was paid to the memory of Mrs. Matilda Jane Williams, who departed this life August 1, 1923, manifesting those elements in life which made her a true and noble wife, mother, grand-mother and friends, while she is greatly missed by all her friends, yet in no place is she missed more than in the home of her son W. A. Williams, and by her other children whom she left to mourn their loss. It is yet hard to realize that she is gone; but in all things the Lord knows best.

When the evening shadows gather, And the sun has gone to rest, Oh, 'tis then we miss you grand-mother, From the home we love the best.

There's a jewel that is missing, And one weary heart is stilled, There's a vacant chair at evening Which never can be filled.

Oh you don't know how it grieves us, For on earth thy work is o'er; But we hope to meet you grand-mother, On a brighter fairer shore.

How we miss you at the table, For your place is vacant there; And our life here is so lonely, For we miss you everywhere. When we cross the silent river, Over on the other shore; Oh we hope to meet you grand-mother, Where we'll never part no more.
