

Readjuster Ticket for Smyth County. Election May 4th, 1883. For Treasurer, RANSOM T. COPENHEAVER. For Commonwealth Attorney, H. CLAY JONES. For Sheriff, FRANK W. LEONARD. District Offices. Marion District, A. J. HARRIS, Commissioner of the Revenue, C. F. LINCOLN, Supervisor, JOHN HAY, W. W. MESSER and WM. LEONARD, Magistrates, DANIEL LINDA, JAMES D. C. GOLLESON, Constables, L. C. ANDERSON, Overseer of the Poor. Rich Valley, J. R. HUBBLE, Supervisor, B. F. GALL, Commissioner of Revenue, D. P. DAVIS, WM. H. POSTON, and SAMUEL SCOTT, Magistrates, EBAS, E. PATRICK, and JNO. M. POSTON, Constables, ROBERT ALLISON, for Overseer of the Poor. Eye Valley, G. W. BLANKENBUEKLER, Supervisor, S. B. BLANKENBUEKLER, Commissioner of the Revenue, D. N. GRIFFITHS, CAPT. J. C. KILLINGER, and JAMES EDMONSON, Magistrates, J. T. BLANKENBUEKLER and A. J. WELLS, Constables, ALEXANDER PICKLE, Overseer of the Poor.

THE LINES DRAWN. The mass meeting of Readjusters of Smyth held on Monday was one of the very best political meetings ever held in the county. In point of numbers it was a decided success, while in enthusiasm and harmony we have never seen it surpassed. It was a gathering of true and tried Readjusters, men who are fully informed as to the methods of Funderism, and are resolved to preserve to our State and county all the benefits that have resulted from Readjuster success in the State.

The mass meeting did its work well. Men of the highest integrity and qualifications were selected as candidates for the various county and district offices that are to be filled at the approaching May election. Funderism, that has cried "let men be selected for the county offices on account of their merit," must now acknowledge that it will be hard for them to find men of equal merit in their ranks to antagonize the Readjuster candidates. They certainly cannot find superior men.

Funderism might as well retire from the fight. Smyth county Readjusters have determined to vote for men of their own political convictions in the coming election. We place the full ticket at the head of our columns. Now let every Readjuster go to work, and see that a full vote is given to the good men who have been selected to bear our banner to victory.

The Funderers are extremely anxious to have the debt question removed from politics. We don't blame the poor innocents. They have been so fearfully defeated upon every position they have ever taken upon it that it would be unnatural if they were not sick and tired even unto death of it. But can they be foolish enough to think that the people will, at the mere bidding of Funderism, become blind to all that Readjustment has accomplished for the State, and now in the interest of Bourbonism cast aside the party of progress? Do Funderers think that the people are not now fully awakened to the incompetency and dishonesty of the organization that has so persistently fought the liberal, progressive and successful policy of Readjustment? Can they be foolish enough to imagine that they will again be entrusted with the management of the State after their mismanagement had nearly wrecked its prosperity forever? The people will not be driven from the support of the liberal and capable party, the Readjuster party, at the very time its most brilliant victory has been won. The old false cries of defeated Bourbonism will have no effect, but that of exciting the pity and scorn of the people it has so often sought to delude. The debt question can only be eliminated from politics at the will and pleasure of the people; it will not down at the bidding of Funderism, nor will it be cast aside until Bourbon-Funderism has ceased to live even in memory.

"Yes, sir," said the wood "I prefer to sell wood to me their own sawing. You can convince a man who has worked at a wood pile that the word of it."

In all the counties where the Funderers have majorities they are bringing out full tickets for the county officers. In closely contested counties they are doing the same thing; and yet the Funderers say "what have politics to do with county elections?"

THE Foreign Bondholders have raised sixty thousand dollars to defeat the operations of the RIDDLEBERGER Bill. So Readjusters you see the fight is not yet ended. Funderism will never give up the fight as long as the bondholders send in money.

THE conduct of Capt. R. C. Williams who declined the nomination for Sheriff, was that of a worthy and true Readjuster. He did good work that day for the cause he has so long fought gallantly for, and he has only added to the almost unlimited respect and confidence, his party and friends repose in him.

WE do not fear the corpse of Funderism; for it stinketh so that the people will never constitute it their leader again. We are only indignant that men should try to palm off the putrid body for a healthy living form. Yes, you are dead and buried, and even the trump of Democracy can not bring you to life again.

In the mass meeting there were no contests for the county offices; and the candidates selected were nominated by acclamation. In the district meetings there were very few contests, and they were of a friendly character. The utmost good feeling prevailed; and if any man was disappointed at not getting the nomination, that was all—no ill feeling was engendered.

THE Conservative Democrat thinks politics ought not to be brought into county elections. The editor has a brother who is a Funderer and who is running for county Treasurer. Smyth county has nearly five hundred Readjuster majority, and we are not astonished that the Conservative objects so seriously to the hues being drawn in county elections. If the Funderers had a majority it would occupy a different position.

SOME of the Funderers are even so little as to try to prejudice the colored men against the Readjuster party, and its candidates by saying to them "do you want BILLY PENDLETON to be your master?" We have heard of the acts of these little creatures, and can only despise the methods and the men that employ them. Because we, together with the Readjuster party, have been the friends of the colored people Funderism has heretofore been relentless in its abuse. Now it would try to make the colored men believe that we are their enemies, and would be their masters, if we could.

SPRAGUE'S DIVORCED WIFE.

The Famous Woman Whose Place Was Filled by Another a Few Days Ago.

Among the ladies in the private gallery of the Senate on Friday evening before the adjournment was Mrs. Sprague, who is now with her three daughters at "Edgewood," the old country home of her father, the late Chief Justice Chase. When ex-Senator Sprague was married yesterday, Mrs. Sprague sat in the gallery with Representative and Miss Crowley, New York; but I think few about her or perhaps had ever seen her before. They were all new faces, belonging to the present; but she seemed to belong to the past; a brilliant past it was, when she was an acknowledged leader of Washington society, and one of the most beautiful women here.

She is a pretty woman even now and will always retain much of her beauty. It is true that her face looks faded, and about the lovely dark eyes there are worn, tired lines. But the pose of the small, finely-formed head is marked as ever, and the mouth as haughty, but yet beautiful as in the old days, when the lips were parted in smiles that were so fascinating. I saw her soon after the death of her father, and then her face, framed in the little black bonnet, had a touch of Madonna sweetness that softened all the proud bearing. She has resumed colors, and dresses with the same exquisite taste for which she was quite noted in her best days—those days when she entered this gallery by her right as the wife of a Senator, and her husband sat below, a Senator from Rhode Island. And now she takes her seat as a stranger, and as such a stranger as one of the visitors sitting there.

Among a number of notable portraits in one of the first photographic establishments on the avenue is one of Kate Chase. It must have been painted nearly twenty years ago, as the dress is of the fashion of that day, having a plain, full skirt, with out a ruffle or touch of trimming. It has a plain round waist and long, slender neck. Harriet Lane's portrait used to hang by the side of this one of Kate Chase, and though she was a handsome woman, there could be no comparison, for the pretty head and eyes of the Ohio girl were too beautiful to be rivalled by the other. Her hair was without a curl or comb and lay over the ears as smooth and glossy as satin and put up in a small coil at the back of the head. With all this severe simplicity of dress and hair it is a beautiful woman looking out from the canvas.—Springfield Republican.

What O'Donovan Rossa Says of the Explosion in London.

NEW YORK, March 16.—When O'Donovan Rossa was asked to-day whether the explosion in London was caused by dynamite or was an accidental explosion of gas, he answered, "We could not follow our own system unless we used dynamite, and that is what caused the explosion. There was no accident about it." "Do you think it was intended to destroy the building only or to also kill those within?"

"It was intended to do all damage possible, and it was done to show England that she had better give Ireland her own Parliament. England is at war with Ireland and Ireland should be at war with England."

Rossa showed a telegram from a friend in this city, warning him not to speak on the subject, and the following dispatch from Boston: "Congratulations you on the news from London this morning. I can collect money now in Boston."

[Signed] JOHN D. DRISCOLL. Rossa said that he had received to-day offers of money, and that he can obtain all that is needed. In answer to the question as to what would next be done, he showed a letter advising him to publish, in his paper, a declaration of war on England, signed by Representative Irishmen. "When that was done it could not be claimed that their actions were dishonorable. As for the weapons, all available ones should be used. This, he said, was his answer. Patrick J. Sheridan, whose extradition England has requested, said "The work is that of Irishmen, and is but the advance ticket. Much more will follow, England will shortly see that she must either free Ireland or suffer the consequences."

The Norfolk and Western.

It has been rumored on the street for several days that Mr. George F. Tyler intended resigning from the presidency of the Norfolk and Western railroad. The reason assigned for this was that there were differences between himself and some of the directors in relation to the Shenandoah Valley railroad, a number of the directors desiring that the Norfolk and Western should assume a portion of the Shenandoah Valley railroad's indebtedness. Mr. Tyler considered this matter before the last annual meeting of the stockholders and decided not to assume the debt, and yet was unanimously re-elected. Having been sustained by such a large vote, it was thought that the talk of his resignation had ended, but the matter has again been taken up, and officials of the company stated yesterday that the rumor was an idle one, and that while Mr. Tyler may intend resigning, it will not be in the near future.—Philadelphia Record, 14th.

Mr. Allen Bradley died at his residence near Salem on the 4th at the age of sixty-nine.

TELEGRAPHIC.

The London Explosion and the Work of the Fenians.

LONDON, March 16.—The explosion was undoubtedly the work of the Fenians. The adjacent streets are filled with myriads of fragments of glass and heavy plate glass is lying in heaps on the ground. A stone weighing 200 pounds was projected against the King Street Police Station, making a hole the size of a man's head. Nothing has been allowed to be touched until an inquiry was made to-day. Full extent of the damages cannot be estimated until daylight. Five hundred constables are guarding the scene. The building has the appearance of having been bombarded. There is a deep trench, ten feet by three in dimensions, in one room, the floor of which has been literally ploughed. Two children sleeping in the house at the corner of King Street were thrown from their beds by the force of the explosion, and their faces were badly cut. They were rescued and taken to the police station. Every pane of glass in the vicinity was shattered. A man was arrested at midnight on suspicion of having been concerned in the explosion. Sir Wm. Harcourt had a conference with the chief of police, at which several witnesses were examined. The conclusion reached was that the explosion occurred inside of the room and not from the outside of the building. After the explosion the force of police at the houses of Parliament was doubled. The Government officials and the residences of ministers are strongly guarded.

The Times attaches little importance to the explosion which occurred at its office. The canister contained only a small quantity of powder.

The Daily News says: It is of course, obvious that the explosion was the result of a premeditated design. We are confronted with the fact that there are in London persons bold enough to act on the wildest counsels of O'Donovan Rossa. It is impossible to connect the authors of this outrage with certain phases of Irish crime and assassins.

The Times says: The Fenian answer to Gladstone's speech on the land act has not been long delayed, we are in the presence of the first attempt of the dynamite party to carry out the policy of bringing war into the heart of the land.

The Times says: The explosion at our office occurred at 7:45 o'clock on Wednesday evening, but the falling of the canister prevented any serious damage. There is reason to believe that two attempts of this kind were made by some miscreants.

[LATER.] There was an enormous crowd gathered at the scene of the explosion, last night, by the Local Government Board Office in Westminster. Government inspectors have made an examination of a portion of the building damaged by the explosion, and place the loss at £400, the vessel which contained the explosive material was placed in the cellar of the Local Government Board Office.

The Times says: If the Irish extremists are really going to reply with dynamite to any measure they disapprove of, it is certain that the day of remedial legislation is over. A later and closer inspection shows the explosion occurred from the outside of the building.

A citizen of the Quaker City, Mr. F. Freed, living at 122 Vine St., recently spoke as follows: "Being afflicted with a distressing cough, Dr. Bull's Cough Syrup was recommended to me for relief. I am happy to say that a few doses not only gave me instant relief, but effected a complete cure."

Look out, Readjusters, that you do not get caught in a Funder net. The cry of the Funder press that the debt question is settled, let all Readjusters return to the Bonbrun camp, is one of the tricks of Funderism to trap you. Give the Funderers the power, and see how long the debt question remains as it is. Keep a sharp eye on the old enemy, the Funderers. Remember how they have misrepresented, vilified and abused your leaders. We have many reforms yet to make. The good work of Readjustment has only begun. A great deal still remains to be accomplished—measures to be brought forward that are of vital importance to the people as the readjustment of our State debt has been. We want our public schools preserved; our industries protected; our right of suffrage free and untrammeled; we want a commissioner of sales; we want a reduction in the number of judicial circuits; we want a Female State Normal College for the free education of the daughters of worthy poor people, so as to enable them to become competent and thorough teachers. We prefer a State debt of nineteen million dollars at three per cent. to a debt at thirty-two millions at a higher rate of interest; we prefer paying forty cents taxes on the hundred dollars, as it is under Readjuster rule, to fifty cents taxes on the hundred dollars, as it was under Bourbon-Funder rule; we prefer progress, plenty and prosperity, as we have now, to the empty promises of Bourbon-Funder Democracy. Then, Readjusters, let us stand closer together than ever before, and scorn the idea of forsaking a party that has already done so much for the people—that will continue to do all it promises them. No! No! Never go back! Our cause now is more sacred than ever.—Calyper Times.

Letter on Sheep Raising.

You were telling me that you have purchased an old farm of two hundred acres, situated a few miles from your home place...

Likewise should the other extreme, viz: poverty, be avoided. I have seen sheep degenerate from poverty more in one generation than they could be improved in two or three.

Hence, the smaller the flock the healthier the sheep. I would advise you to carry not more than fifty sheep to your late purchased place...

I have had better success when letting them take all the weather, than when housing them. I have no doubt that an open shed, with floor cleansed and fresh bedding every few days would be better.

Beets.

For beets the soil should be rich, mellow and deep. Plant in drills about two inches deep and the rows about twelve or fifteen inches apart.
