Our Great Fair Underway

OPENS WITH EVERY PROSPECT OF BEING THE BIGGEST AND BEST FAIR THAT HAS EVER BEEN HELD—UNSURPASSED EXHIBITS OF HORSES AND CATTLE—EVERY BOOTH TAKEN AND MANY TENTS PUT UP TO TAKE CARE OF EXHIBITS.

BEST SHOWS AND MIDWAY EVER SEEN AT MARION

The great Smyth County Fair of 1925 opened Tuesday with the greatest promise of success that has ever been had by any Fair that has been in the County. The Association has spared no expense and labor to make all the arrangements complete, and never before in the history of the Association has there been such a demand for space for exhibits. Its not alone from the County of Smyth that these exhibits have come, or even the State of Virginia, but they are here almost from all over the Union. And they are good exhibits, and will be an educational feature to every one that attends the great Fair.

One of the big features of the Fair this year will be the Races. Horses are here from all the circuits, and the contests promise to be very sharp and consequently interesting and exciting to all beholders. There is some very fine trotting stock on the grounds.

The Shows will be exceptionally fine this year as the Nat Reiss aggregation has the reputation of being the very finest in the whole land; good clean shows, that every one can go to and be glad that they have seen them. There are plenty of attractions for the little ones, rides and slides, and also plenty for the older people. In fact this will be holiday week for the people of Smyth County, and it is expected that the crowds that will attend will surpass that of all former years. Every preparation has been made for the handling of the enormous crowds without confusion, so that everyone can enjoy themselves and have a good time.

We are writing this before the Fair is really under way and are speaking of the great prospect for pleasure and entertainment that is in store for all that visit the Fair. But you never know what is at the Fair unless you go, and you will miss one of the best treats of your life if you don't go.

Take a day off, and meet your neighbor at the Fair.

Mr. and Mrs. M. T. Bales and Miss Lena Bales of Detroit, Mich., were the guest last week of his mother Mrs. Sarah Murrell near Atkins.

Mr. and Mrs. J. W. DeBord had as their dinner guests Sunday: Mr. and Mrs. Vint Tilson and two sons Charles and Jerry, of Lincoln, N. C., Mr. and Mrs. Jim Tilson, of Lynchburg, Va.; Mrs. Will Johnson and daughter Helen and son Lynn of Marion.

Personals.

Mrs. Henry and Bonita Smith, of Blountdale, Georgia, left Friday after spending a short time as guests in the home of Mr. and Mrs. C. E. Bryant.

Rev. C. E. Painter has just closed a very successful revival at the Methodist church at Seven Mile Ford. Rev. Painter did the preaching and the church could not accommodate the large crowd that attended the service. Rev. Painter is doing some great work on the Marion Circuit.

The Smyth County Fair opened Tuesday with a large exhibit of farm products, live stock and poultry and the Reiss Shows have arrived and will furnish the amusement in addition to the great number of free attractions and horse races which are held every day.

Shows at The Fair

NAT REISS SHOWS

Just as was represented the Nat Reiss Shows opened their attractions at the fair grounds Tuesday and it is the consensus of opinion that the carnival is bigger and cleaner than any we have had here in the past for the Smyth County Fair. In fact we have grown so accustomed to thinking of carnivals as dirty little old tents shows, with their dancing girls and "men only" exhibits that it seems an error to mention carnival and the Nat Reiss Shows in the same breath, the Nat Reiss Shows are so different.

The News man visited the fair Tuesday night and, of course, went to the midway expecting to find the usual type of carnival attractions, but to his great surprise he found that the press agent for the Nat Reiss Shows had for once told the truth. When the Nat Reiss press agent visited The News Monday he told us that he wanted his shows exposed to the public if they were not exactly as represented but if they were the big, clean, amusements that he said they were he felt his organization was entitled to our saying so and we do not hesitate in saying that every amusement that we saw, and we saw them all, is nothing but good, clean, wholesome entertainment, entertainment that you can visit with your mother, wife, sister or sweetheart and not be embarrassed.

We found the concession row as honestly conducted as the shows and on every booth we saw merchandise worth many times the small sum asked of the player. There are blankets, dolls, groceries, fancy electric lamps, chinaware and every imaginable piece of goods, and the operators of the stands seemed willing and anxious to see that every player had a fair chance.

The personnel of the Nat Reiss Shows seems to be of higher standard than the usual carnival followers and the conduct of the men and women on the streets, in the stores and hotels, has been the conduct of ladies and gentlemen. There has been none of the usual rowdy seen in Marion this year and the carnival people appear to us as any business people.

It is the first visit South for the Nat Reiss Shows but we predict they will meet with success everywhere they exhibit for they deserve success. They have made possible a midway that is decent, something for which we should all be grateful, and should the shows visit Marion again they will find the welcome mat in front of every door.

The shows go from here to Galax to the fair there next week and after Galax will exhibit at the Bluefield Fair and the Roanoke Fair before going further into the South.

Miss Elizabeth Wolfe returned home last Sunday after spending several weeks in Johnston City and Kingsport.

Miss Margaret White, a student of Radford State Teachers College came home Friday night the 28th of August.

Mr. and Mrs. W. A. Phillippe of Downers Grove, Ill., are the guests of their parents, Mr. and Mrs. Z. M. Wolfe.

Mesdames W. C. Field of Mouth of Wilson, Va., and J. D. Perkins of Marion, have just returned from a two weeks combined pleasure and business trip to Atlantic City, New York, Baltimore and Philadelphia and other northern cities. They report an enjoyable trip and they are only the worse for right severe sunburns incurred in the surf at Atlantic City and considerable cash for expenses of the itinerary.

SPURIOUS KENDALL BONDS ARE BURNED

Richmond, Va., August 27.—Rosewell Page, second auditor of Virginia, had a bonfire in his office today and burned an additional $2,455 of the spurious Kendall bond issue.

From time to time, these bonds, of which millions of dollars face value are said to be in circulation over the entire United States bob up in the second auditor office and are burned. The bonds are not counterfeit but are of a lot of printing which the state refused in 1882 and which were sold at auction by the express company after the printers refused to take them back.

The issue is easily identified by reason of certain markings and despite that fact, they bear the facsimile signature of the state treasurer and are not legalized because they have never been attested by the proper officials.

Opens Office In Roanoke.

FULWILER TAKES UP DUTIES AS DRY CHIEF OF SEVENTH DISTRICT.

Arriving in Roanoke yesterday to assume head position in the enforcement of the prohibition law in the Seventh District, comprising Virginia and West Virginia, Chief Administrator Robert A. Fulwiler took up temporary headquarters in the Federal building. Shipments of furniture for the permanent headquarters which is to be established on the second floor of the postoffice annex is expected to arrive today, at which time the permanent offices will be taken over by the administrator and his staff.

The present force of field agents operating out of Roanoke will be maintained, Mr. Fulwiler stated yesterday, until October 15. Those whose records have proved satisfactory will be retained and what new appointments are deemed necessary will be made by the administrator. General agents working in Virginia were transferred to the administrator's office under orders effective yesterday. These will be assigned to duties up to October 15, when all agents' commissions expire.

Accepts Appointment.
J. H. Gadd, former prohibition director for West Virginia, in a statement to Mr. Fulwiler, has accepted the appointment as attorney for the headquarters here. Recommendation for his appointment was made by the administrator. R. A. Anderson, for four years assistant director for Virginia, received appointment as assistant administrator and Charles S. Whiting, of Charleston, W. Va., has been appointed Federal prohibition agent here in charge of the permit division. He will be stationed at the district headquarters. A deputy prohibition administrator will be in charge of enforcement in the western judicial district of Virginia. On the clerical staff will be Miss Hoylman, to be transferred from Charleston; Miss Odessa Pittard, of Roanoke, formerly of the Veterans Bureau at Charleston, and Miss Nina Warren, also of Roanoke. Two clerks from the prohibition department at Washington have been recommended for transfer to the administrator's office and will probably arrive here within a few days.

ROANOKE FAIR

Declared to be the most complete exhibition ever offered, the 24th annual Roanoke fair will be held in Roanoke this year for four days commencing Tuesday, September 23. Both day and night sessions will be held, and on Friday, the closing day of the Fair the most famous dirt track auto racers will appear in a specially augmented series of automobile races.

Special attention is being paid to the exhibits this year, and the display of cattle livestock and swine will be the second to none in the State. The exhibits of members of the H. H. Clubs of Southwest Virginia and contiguous territory will be the most elaborate and the largest ever offered by any fair.

The baby beaves display promises to exceed that of last year when a new record was produced. For the housewives the homemaking department will offer a series of valuable prizes together with a number of special awards and premiums. Entries for all these departments are being received by Secretary Louis A. Scholz, 504 Mountain Trust Building, Roanoke. All information concerning the fair can be ascertained from the secretary.

Besides the exhibits, the fair management will offer fireworks at night, band concerts at all hours, a great program of free attractions, day and night, together with eighteen different and distinct shows and eight new rides, many of them never before seen in this section. The Roanoke Fair will be the place to meet your friends, and will be the greatest and largest exhibition ever held in this vicinity.—A.R.V.

Our College To Open

Every season has its especial associations. Just a sthe lengthening days and budding roses of late May and early June bring back to many of us pleasant memories of Marion College Commencement, so is the coming of the autumn forever associated in our minds with the annual opening of that time, honored institution. September means much more to the people of Marion than crisp clear nights and golden days, much more than the ingathering of fruits and the storing of fuel against the winter, much more than gorgeous woodlands and gardens gay with particular dahlias and chrysanthemums. It means the spreading wide of College doors and windows, renewed activity within and without the buildings after three months of silence and inertia. It means the sound of glad young voices on the campus, steps and portico, the sight of glad young faces and daintily-clad forms moving briskly and busily from this task to that, from one form of recreation to another. It means the return to town of former teachers, the introduction of new ones into our social life, the availing ourselves upon us of their varied intellectual, artistic and practical gifts. It means an added business interest which certainly is not to be scorned.

Perhaps one factor which contributes to the phenomenal success of Marion College is the warm welcome accorded to students and teachers, both new and old, by the College management. There seems to be within those ivy-festooned walls no feeling of dread as the time for reopening approaches, no shrinking from taking up once more the winter tasks. On the contrary, the management looks forward with pleasure and with interest to the home-coming of the great college family, and throughout the summer those in authority, both individually and collectively, are devising new ways and means to further the happiness of the household, as well as the moral, physical and intellectual development of its members. The fact that the entire faculty, with one exception, will return this year, is sufficient proof that teachers as well as students are accorded unflinching personal consideration, and that they find the College associations delightful and the spirit of the institution wholesome.

The only change in the faculty this year is in the Mathematics Department, which will be under the supervision of Miss Gunn, a graduate of Northwestern University, and an instructor so highly recommended that the success of her department is already assured.

As the people of Marion and Smyth County are rapidly awakening to a realization of the educational advantages which are to be found right at their own doors, and that the slogan, "Patronize Home Enterprises," is especially applicable in the case of Marion College, an unusually large home enrollment is anticipated. In fact, the College is prepared for a widely, extended patronage in all departments. It is advisable that students wishing to enroll in any special department should make their applications promptly.

On Monday, September 14, the College will open for the assignment of schedules for day students, the formal opening for the session taking place at nine o'clock on the morning of Wednesday, September 16, after the arrival of the boarding students, who are expected on Tuesday, September 15. It will facilitate matters and avoid delay in getting the College on a working basis as soon as possible after the schedule is arranged if day students will register this week so that their text-books can be ordered immediately.

In accordance with its determination to go forward and never backward, the College offers improved methods in all of its special departments, and a broadness of scope surpassing that of any previous year. The departments of piano, violin, voice, expression, domestic art and science, a very high creditable, will provide exceptional advantages, the instructors being both gifted and experienced and using only modern methods.

The Business Course, including Stenography, Typing, Bookkeeping and Secretarial Work, ranks with that offered by any standard business college, a claim which is attested by the remarkable popularity of this department, and the ease with which its graduates secure lucrative and responsible positions.

The Course in Teachers Training, which is a Marion College specialty, has been so successful that it scarcely seems necessary to call further attention to it. It gives the College student an opportunity to equip herself for the teaching profession while taking her regular College course, thus eliminating the necessity of a separate training at a special school. The methods used in this department are in strict accordance with the state requirements, and the graduation certificates entitle the students to positions in both grammar and high schools. So far there is no record of the failure of any student of the Marion College Training Class to give satisfaction as a Public School Instructor. The same success marks the career of students who prefer to continue a College course rather than enter the teaching field, one of them having been awarded her A. B. degree at the University of Virginia in two years, and receiving the highest grade in English in her class.

On the whole, the prospect for a pleasant and successful year for the College management, faculty and students, and incidentally for Marion, is unusually promising. It is reasonable to hope that the College and the town will co-operate in bringing this promising outlook to fulfillment.

Miss Alice Wolfe is visiting relatives in Salem this week.

PRESBYTERIAN SYNOD ROYAL OAK CHURCH, Marion, Virginia Beginning September 8th,

The Committee on Assignments for Synod would like to know how many delegates each home can receive, for lodging and breakfast. Mr. Engle is chairman of this Committee and he is listing the number to be placed in each home. If he has not seen you see him today.

The program of Synod will be a helpful and interesting one and it will be profitable to attend all its sessions. The night meetings are especially designed for the benefit of the local audiences. Tuesday night there will be a sermon by the retiring Moderator, the election of Moderator and the organization of the Synod. Wednesday night will be devoted to Foreign Missions, with an address by Dr. Egbert Smith, the Executive head of the foreign mission work of our church, and one of the outstanding speakers and authorities on Foreign Missions in the world. Thursday night we will have either the Home Mission Work or the Men of the Church. EVERY MAN OF THIS CHURCH OLD AND YOUNG who can come should attend these evening services, advertise them, and bring his friends. The Christian Endeavor Choral Club will have charge of the music at these services. Wednesday morning at 11 o'clock we will have a sermon by Dr. Venable of Chattanooga. Thursday morning Dr. Yost and others will present the cause of Christian Education.

We are sorry to learn that Mr. and Mrs. Baxter are going to leave us soon. Mr. Baxter is going to take a year at college in preparation for his work as a teacher and they will probably not return to Marion. They are loyal and true friends and christian workers and it is hard for us to give them up.

Prayer meeting this week will be at 7:30 so that if anybody wants to go to both Prayer Meeting and the Fair they may do so.

Next Sunday night we will have a service especially for the boys and girls going off to school. We hope that all of our young people will be in attendance, as well as the older people who wish to come to the church for a farewell service to our boys and girls who leave us for the winter.

The ladies are showing fine spirit in their plans for providing two meals a day at the church, as well as good sense and executive ability.

THE SYNOD OF APPALACHIA.

Marion will enjoy a great privilege next week in the meeting of the Presbyterian Synod of Appalachia in the town. This is day of conventions, and conventions of all sorts are being much sought after by towns and cities because of the recognized benefits they bring with them. Trade organizations, associations of business men, of different lines of business of the several professions, fraternal orders, political parties, civic clubs, conclaves of every kind are being held throughout the country and progressive towns and cities are vying with each other for the privilege of entertaining them. The reason is that these gatherings are beneficial to the life, business and general welfare of the community. It is our opinion that no convention can mean as much to a town as the assembling of the representatives of a great church. We cordially welcome the Presbyterians to Marion and we venture to express the hope that all the churches of Marion will have their official bodies meet here whenever practicable.

The Southern Presbyterian Church consists of eighty four Presbyterian and seventeen Synods. The Synod of Appalachia is made up of four mountain Presbyteries covering eastern Tenn., western North Carolina, South West Virginia, eastern Kentucky and one county in West Virginia. It has a hundred and seventy nine churches and about a hundred and twenty five ministers. We will probably have with us next week about one hundred ministers and elders. The meetings will begin Tuesday night at eight o'clock and close Thursday night. All sessions are open to the public and every one who is interested in worship or in discussion of the great questions before the Church today will be cordially welcome. Much of the time of course must be devoted to routine business of no particular interest to the average layman, but during each afternoon matters of general interest will come up, and at the eleven o'clock hour and each night popular meetings have been arranged with strong speakers and splendid programs. At the evening sessions especially the large auditorium of the Presbyterian Church should be well filled with church people of Marion, irrespective of denomination. This paper believes that every churchman in Marion will profit greatly by taking advantage of this opportunity to attend the popular meetings of the official body of one of our leading denominations.

UNIFORMS FOR LAW ENFORCERS

For a considerable time the newspapers of Virginia and several of our North Carolina contemporaries as well, have been demanding that officers engaged in enforcing the prohibition laws be placed in uniform. This demand applies especially to officers engaged in this work chiefly on the public highways. More than one tragedy has resulted from an ununiformed officer stopping or seeking to stop a motorist believed to be engaged in transporting intoxicating liquors. It is evident that the uniformed officer, who, with drawn revolver turns his flashlight in the face of a motorist at dead of night and orders him to bring his car to a halt, is in grave danger of losing his life if the driver of the car or a companion has a pistol convenient.

Safety of these officers of the law and protection of the citizen against taking human life under a misapprehension demand that all prohibition enforcement officers whose duty it is to patrol the public highways and stop automobiles suspected of containing liquor, be required to wear uniforms at all times when engaged in such work. If this be not done it will be impossible to bring to punishment bootleggers who shoot down these officers of the law under the circumstances indicated and when brought to trial put up the plea that they thought they were being held up by highwaymen when ordered to stop their cars.

DEMONSTRATION.

Miss Edna Neblette, successor to Miss Edna Brown, gave a public demonstration of Progressive Series Piano methods before a large and very appreciative audience, Thursday evening at 8 o'clock in Greer's Hall. Miss Neblette opened the program with an interesting explanation of the origin, purpose and development of the Progressive Series text. This was followed by a demonstration of the class plan of teaching, given with the assistance of a group of young Progressive Series students. The program was concluded with several piano selections, by Miss Neblette, which were most artistically rendered. The entire entertainment revealed the skill and talent of the instructor, and the audience was delighted with Miss Neblette's unusual performance, and with her charm and winning personality.

MANY VA. RIVERS HAVE PRO- NOUNCED POWER RESOURCES

Richmond, Aug. 27—Establishment of thirty-five steam gauging stations on rivers in Virginia having "pronounced power possibilities" and plans for the establishment of fifteen more stations before the end of the year were announced today by Dr. A. W. Giles, acting State Geologist, in discussing the work of the commission contemplated during the next two years. The Commission is preparing its first report to the public, which will be issued in the next few weeks. Unless the work of the Commission commenced this year, is continued by the Legislature, the groundwork laid during the last year will be lost.

Following the gauging of a stream the next step is to run accurate levels along the course of the stream from which a profile is plotted so that the fall of every portion of the stream is accurately known. A Federal Land Bank Loan!

Plenty of Money.

Farming is a business and must be conducted as such. Financing is the first essential. The Federal Land Bank was created by an Act of Congress in 1916, to supply this need for the farmer. Everyone knows that the farmer needs a long term loan in his business, also a plan by which he can gradually reduce his indebtedness and not worry about the renewal of his notes and mortgage. His experience proves to him the advantage of a co-operative system.

1. A low rate of interest. Five and one-half per cent.
2. Systematic reduction of the mortgage.
3. Long term with no renewals.
4. Farm can be sold and mortgage transferred to the purchaser.

5. The farmers receive the earnings of the Bank. (Last year The Federal Land Bank of Baltimore paid about $250,000 in dividends back to the County Associations.) Are you receiving any earnings on your present indebtedness?

If you are interested in further particulars, would advise that you come to see me. 300 other farmers of this county have taken advantage of this system. Ask your neighbor about it he has a loan.

"You're low on gas—that's all!"

"DIDN'T you know that if you have less than three gallons of gas in your Ford, you are liable to stall on steep hills? Next time this happens get out your gauge stick and see how much gas you've got. Then, if the gas is low, turn the car around and run her up the hill backwards. That little trick will save you from getting a wrecking car out for nothing."

These stunts that experience has taught the Fleet Boss come in mighty handy, but if you want to play really safe keep your tank well filled with "Standard" and you won't stall on any hill. Take a look at the oil level, too, before you start on your trip. Have you tried the new "Standard" Motor Oil for Ford cars? It is the best we have found so far and we use a lot of Ford cars ourselves.

IN MEMORIAM

Mrs. Laura Sexton Buchanan was born at Chatham Hill, Va., June 13th 1850 and died at her home near Ellendale, August 8, 1925, making her earthly pilgrimage a little more than 75 years of usefulness both to her fellow-men and to her God. She was the daughter of John G. and Sarah B. Sexton, and a sister of Dr. Thos. Sexton and Edward Sexton of Fremont, Nebraska, also of Mrs. Gaddy and Mrs. Whitehead of Chatham Hill. On November 8, 1871 she was married to Hickman Spiller Buchanan, to whom she was a faithful and devoted companion until death separated them on March 31st, 1899. To this union were born ten children, six boys and four girls, nine of whom survive her. They are Dr. E. A. Buchanan, of Fremont, Neb.; John G. Buchanan, Mrs. T. T. Taylor, Mrs. W. P. Buchanan, Misses Gray and Helen Buchanan, T. Harry Buchanan, Mrs. G. S. Buchanan and Mrs. J. B. McCarty, all of Rich Valley, and all of whom were with her during her last illness. Besides she has thirty surviving grand children and five great grand-children.

On August 9, 1885 she professed faith in Christ and joined the Rich Valley Presbyterian church, of which she was a faithful and consistent member for forty years, helping not only with her influence, but with her means, to uphold and prosper the work of the church and it was ever her desire that those who were out of the church should be brought in; even in her last days here were some about whom she was especially concerned.

Her funeral services were conducted from the Rich Valley church at 2:30 P. M. on Monday, August 10th by the Rev. J. B. Bittinger, a former pastor for 17 years assisted by Rev. S. D. McCarty, who was an especial favorite of Mrs. Buchanan.

Rev. Bittinger chose as the scripture lesson for the occasion, the last chapter of Proverbs, beginning at the 10th verse, all of which was indeed a very striking description of the one to whom he had come to pay tribute. He based his remarks on the last clause of the 26th verse, "and in her tongue is the law of kindness." Truly, she was one of the very few human beings, who was never heard to speak an unkind word about anyone, and even when others ventured unkind remarks in her presence, she was ever ready with some charitable construction to put on the fault. No one who came to her for a kindness or a word of sympathy and cheer, ever went away empty and she was a true friend to rich and poor alike. She was a living example of the poem, "Let me live in a house by the side of the road, and be a friend of man," and to this may be added women and little children, for she was adored by all of the latter class with whom she came in contact. She will be greatly missed by all classes of people, not only in Rich Valley, but wherever she was known.

Rev. Bittinger mentioned the fact that 29 years before to the very day and hour when he was conducting these services, he had first met Mrs. Buchanan and during all those years of intimate acquaintance, her life had been one of unselfish service to others. For the comfort of the bereaved ones, he read the 14th chapter of John, and in closing his remarks asked the choir to sing the following verses: "Lord let me live from day to day,

In such a self forgetful way, That even when I kneel to pray, My prayer shall be for others.

"And when on earth my work is done, And my new work in Heaven's begun, May I forget the crown I've won While thinking still of others."

Other selections rendered by the choir during the service were: "Abide With Me" and "Safe In The Arms of Jesus," after which the remains were laid to rest in the cemetery near by, between those of the devoted husband and son who preceded her.

Beautiful floral tributes were carried and placed on her grave by fourteen of her grand-children and the pall bearers were selected from among the relatives.

Such a passing as this is indeed beautiful when we remember that three score years and ten is the time allotted to mortals in which to do their life work, and that hers exceeded it by five years, all of which time was filled with noble and loving deeds. During her last days she called her children to her at different times assuring them that she had no fears of death and that she would simply go to sleep. So she did. She remarked that the past two months had been the happiest summer of her life, because she had all of her children in the home with her; and no more beautiful example of filial devotion has ever been witnessed, than was seen in that home during that time. Truly, "Her children shall rise up and call her blessed."

Mrs. Frank Hackler and son Frank Jr., of Charlotte, N. C., and Mrs. Ralph Fisher of Brevard, N. C., are the guests of their mother Mrs. Lee Richardson.
